The logo comes in the form of a square shape to enhance stability and trust. The colours in the flags of both Italy and Singapore are reflected in the logo. The colours of the Singapore flag are positioned at the top portion of the logo in red and white while the colours of the Italy flag are positioned at the bottom portion, in green, white and red.

In view of the bilateral relations that ICCS bridges between Italy and Singapore in terms of economic, commercial and legislative connections, the red coloured portion leads our eyes from the left towards the right and ends at the letter 'S', which stands for Singapore.

On a geographical level, Italy is situated northwest from Singapore, thus the red area could also represent a directional bridge, linking Singapore to the north-upwards followed by the west-leftwards, strengthening the ties between Singapore and Italy.

GRACE FU

Minister for Sustainability and the Environment
Minister-in-charge of Trade Relations
Singapore

Amidst a more complex global environment, I am glad that the close economic ties between Singapore and Italy have continued to grow. Our trade linkages have deepened, with our trade in goods and trade in services growing by 33% and 12% respectively since the EU-Singapore Free Trade Agreement's (EUSFTA) entry into force in 2019. Our investment linkages have also grown, with companies such as Singapore-based Silicon Box and Milan-based Campari Group making new investments in Italy and Singapore respectively. I deeply appreciate Italy's ratification of the EU-Singapore Investment Protection Agreement (EUSIPA) in September 2024. When it enters into force, the EUSIPA will provide enhanced investment protection for our bilateral investments and encourage the growth of investment flows.

We have also made significant strides in advancing our digital cooperation with the EU, including Italy, having concluded negotiations on the EU-Singapore Digital Trade Agreement (EUSDTA) in July 2024. When in force, the EUSDTA will enhance digital connectivity and facilitate end-to-end digital trade between Singapore and Italian companies, while providing greater clarity and legal certainty for our citizens and companies. Through the EUSDTA, we can also enhance the efficiency and seamlessness of digital transactions, enabling companies to seize new opportunities in the digital economy.

The strong momentum of engagements between our governments and businesses has continued. President Tharman Shanmugaratnam made a State Visit to Italy in June 2024, where he and President Mattarella had good exchanges on strengthening our people-to-people ties. Singapore also welcomed the port stop of the Italian historical naval ship Amerigo Vespucci in October 2024, during which the Invest in Italy conference provided a valuable platform to encourage businesses to explore opportunities in Italy. The opening of the Italian export credit agency SACE's Singapore office in May 2024 has also created further opportunities to grow our business-to-business linkages.

I appreciate ICCS's continued support in encouraging interactions between our business communities. As we commemorate 60 years of diplomatic relations between Singapore and Italy this year, I look forward to deepening Singapore's close partnership with Italy and the ICCS.

H. E. DANTE BRANDI

Ambassador of Italy to Singapore

Dear Members of the Italian Chamber of Commerce in Singapore,

It is with great pleasure that I extend my warmest greetings to all members of ICCS. Over the past year, ICCS has once again demonstrated its vital role in fostering economic and institutional ties between Italy and Singapore, facilitating meaningful exchanges and new opportunities for collaboration. The year 2024 was marked by important institutional milestones, including the visit of the President of the Republic of Singapore to Italy, which further strengthened our bilateral relations. Another key achievement was the extension of the EU-Singapore Free Trade Agreement to include digital cooperation, paving the way for enhanced economic collaboration in an increasingly technology-driven global landscape. These developments underscored the growing partnership between our two nations and set the stage for a dynamic year ahead. ICCS continued its efforts to promote Italian excellence across multiple sectors. The Chamber participated in the GSTC, coordinated by the LANSETT Committee, and successfully hosted the First Forum on Sustainability in the hospitality sector, in collaboration with the Singapore Tourism Board. The excellence of Italian food and beverage was once again showcased in Singapore, with over 35 Italian companies engaging with the APAC market. Additionally, ICCS facilitated several business delegations, welcoming a total of 130 Italian companies to Singapore throughout the year. Institutional engagements remained a priority, with a key meeting between Deputy Minister Valentino Valentini and ICCS members, reinforcing Italy's commitment to fostering stronger economic ties. The Chamber also played a pivotal role in sector-specific initiatives, such as the business delegation from the Piedmont Region in November, which focused on furniture and design. Meanwhile, ICCS continued to recognize outstanding achievements in business and innovation, presenting the Business Award to Silicon Box during the Gala Dinner. A major highlight of 2024 was the visit of the tall ship Amerigo Vespucci, a symbol of Italian maritime heritage, which drew significant attention in Singapore. As part of this momentous occasion, ICCS actively supported events at Villaggio Italia, an initiative that brought together Italian culture, innovation, and business, further strengthening our nation's presence in the region. ICCS has grown to represent over 230 members and ten dedicated committees, further consolidating its role as a bridge between Italy and Singapore. The Chamber remained active in promoting Singapore to the Italian business community, working closely with the Italia Singapore Business Council. Additionally, ICCS renewed its collaboration with Confindustria, particularly during the visit of Amerigo Vespucci, reinforcing the strong ties between Italian and Singaporean industry leaders. Italy and Singapore continue to share a vision of growth, innovation, and sustainability. I commend ICCS for its unwavering dedication to strengthening these ties and look forward to seeing the continued success of its initiatives in the years to come.

GIONATA BOSCO

President of the Italian Chamber of Commerce In Singapore

Dear Members,

It is with great pleasure that I present to you the latest edition of the Annual Directory of Members of the Italian Chamber of Commerce in Singapore. This publication is a testament to the strength and diversity of our business community, representing the key companies and individuals who contribute to the dynamic relationship between Italy and Singapore.

The past year has been an exceptional one for our Chamber, marked by sustained growth and impactful initiatives. Our network has expanded to over 230 members, reinforcing our role as a key platform for business development in Singapore. As we pledged a year ago, we have deepened our local engagement welcoming not only Italian enterprises but also a growing number of Singaporean companies eager to connect with Italy.

Among our many milestones in 2024, the LANSSET Committee was instrumental in leading Italy's participation in the Global Space and Technology Convention, highlighting our national expertise in aerospace. We also launched the inaugural Sustainability Forum, focused on the hospitality sector, which sparked meaningful dialogue around green practices and innovation.

Our annual flagship event, the Italian Food & Beverage, brought together more than 35 Italian exhibitors and over 100 importers and distributors from across the region, further strengthening Italy's presence in this sector. In addition, we proudly collaborated with IEG Asia to support Italian companies at both the SIGEP and SIJE fairs, enhancing our footprint at strategic trade events.

Beyond exhibitions and forums, our business delegations and study tours involved a total of 140 companies, deepening bilateral ties between Italy and Singapore. A highlight of the year was our engagement with Italy's Deputy Minister for Made in Italy, Valentino Valentini, made possible through the valued support of the Italian Embassy in Singapore, an important step in reinforcing our institutional relationships.

The momentum has carried forward into 2025, with a compelling calendar of initiatives. In January, we hosted the Area Meeting of Italian Chambers of Commerce in Asia, Africa, Australia, and the Middle East, reaffirming our role in a globally connected network. Our collaboration with LANSSET also continues, supporting Italy's participation in this year's GSTC Fair, alongside the Italian Space Agency.

On April 15, we celebrated the Italian Street Food Event at ITE College in partnership with the Accademia della Cucina Italiana a vibrant celebration of Italy's culinary heritage. From April 21 to 26, the Italian Week at Tanglin Club, an initiative supported by the Embassy of Italy, brought Italian culture to the forefront through a week-long celebration.

In the months ahead, we look forward to a vibrant line-up of cultural and business engagements. On June 25–26, we will return with our much-anticipated Italian Food & Beverage event, continuing our mission of connecting Italian producers with regional importers and distributors. Later in the year, on October 5, we will host the ICCS F1 Lounge at the Singapore Grand Prix, providing members with an exclusive networking opportunity in a prestigious and dynamic setting.

Looking beyond Singapore, we are proud to facilitate a business delegation of ASEAN companies to HOST Milano, furthering trade relations in the hospitality industry. And in November, we will launch a two-week pop-up shop at Takashimaya, offering Italian brands a unique opportunity to connect directly with Singaporean consumers.

These initiatives reflect our enduring commitment to fostering business connections, encouraging collaboration, and promoting Italian excellence in Singapore. I warmly invite each of you to take part in our activities and make the most of the opportunities that the Chamber offers.

Thank you for your continued trust and support. I look forward to another successful year together.

Getting around Singapore

Singapore's transport system is highly efficient and easy to navigate. The various modes of transport used on the island are as follows.

Driving and Riding

Non-Singaporeans can drive or ride on Singapore's roads, provided they have an International Driver's Permit. Should your license be in another language, make sure you carry an English translation. Drivers have a one-year grace period to obtain a Singapore driver's license, unless they become Permanent Residents, at which point a license conversion has to be done. This would require one to take the Basic Theory Test which can be booked online or at any one of the three driving centres located on different parts of the island.

Below are the names of the schools and their websites:

- Comfort DelGro Driving Centre - www.cdc.com.sg
- Singapore Safety Driving Centre - www.ssdcl.com.sg
- Cathay Driving Centre

If you do not have a driving license and wish to obtain one, you can also sign up at any of the above-mentioned schools.

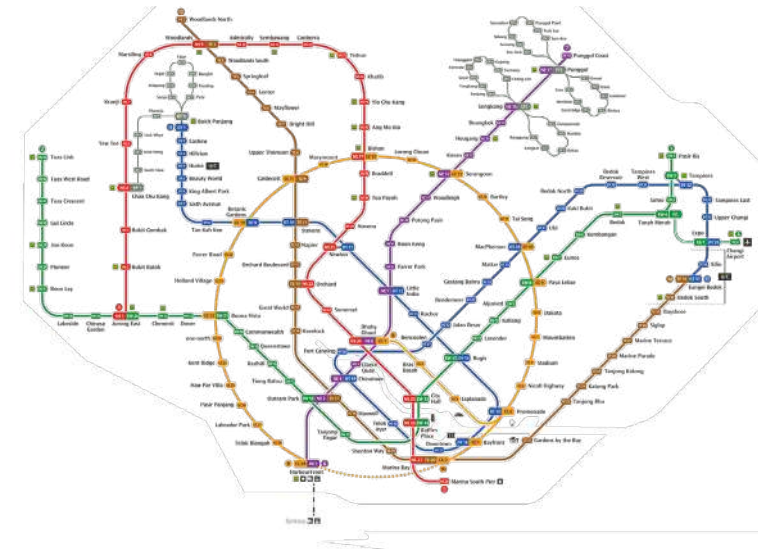

Taxis and Private Hire cars

Taxi services in Singapore are run by Comfort & Citycab, and SMRT Taxis, TransCab and Prime Taxi. Getting a taxi is generally easy as they can be flagged down on the main road. However, if you are hard-pressed for time, you can also call the hotlines to make a booking. This can also be done in advance with a pre-booking service through ride hailing applications such as Zig, Grab, Gojek and Tada.

The websites of the Taxi and ride hailing services can be found below:

Public Transportation

Singapore is equipped with one of the world's best rail and bus networks, making it convenient and affordable to commute by train or bus. Trains and buses operate from 5.30am to as late as 1am, depending on the location.

Bus times can be tracked on mobile apps such as "MyTransport" and "Google Maps". These apps also allow you to plan your journey by showing all the possible routes between your starting point and destination. There are currently several train lines in Singapore. There are also Light Rail Transits (LRTs) that link MRT stations with HDBs public housing estates to reach as many residential areas as possible.

Payments for train and bus rides can be made with a simple swipe of an EZ-Link card, a pre-paid smart card that allows you to pay for all your public transport travel. You can purchase one at most MRT stations and 7-11 stores. Cash payment is also accepted, but this is highly impractical on buses and is not accepted for the MRT.

Choosing your neighbourhood

Moving abroad can be challenging, so there are certain aspects you should take into careful consideration before making the big move. Here is a comprehensive overview of the different neighbourhoods and the types of home you could live in. The guide aims to provide you with more information that will make your transition smoother.

Firstly an important factor to take into consideration is the location of the accommodation. Singapore's neighbourhoods vary greatly, and each has its own unique characteristics and history.

City Centre

Orchard Road

Orchard Road's bustling boulevard is a retail and dining paradise, with over 5,000 establishments including prominent shopping malls, restaurants, cinemas, bars, health and wellness centres. All your needs can be met within a mile. Locals and expats are offered the ultimate life-style experience, yet many of the surrounding neighbourhoods are green and quiet.

Tanglin - Jervois Road

A walk and a world away from Orchard, Tanglin is a largely residential area that is home to many embassies. With a mix of single-story and mostly low-rise condominiums, the Tanglin area exudes an air of serenity with its tree-lined roads and green surroundings. Although there are no Mass Rapid Transport (MRT) stations nearby, it is easily accessible by bus and strategically located near the Botanic Gardens, Orchard Road and Dempsey Hill. The latter boasts a mix of quaint furniture shops, art galleries, cafes and restaurants.

Robertson Quay - River Valley

Situated between Orchard Road and the Singapore River, Robertson Quay and River Valley are popular areas for young people who want to be near the Central Business District (CBD), so they can enjoy the wide range of amenities on offer and the buzzing nightlife. Robertson Quay boasts modern condominiums with impressive water views. Transportation is made easy via Clarke Quay MRT stations and the numerous bus services available here.

Central Business District (CBD) - Marina Bay

This area has an abundance of luxurious, high-rise new condominiums and is easily connected to Singapore's financial centre. It also has spectacular views of the island's breath-taking skyline. The small size and relatively high cost of apartments is compensated by the convenience of well-connected underground walkways, home to a large number of shops, supermarkets, restaurants, bars and MRT stations. With the famous Marina Bay Sands Integrated Resort, the Esplanade Theatres and numerous elegant eateries of One Fullerton Bay, you'll never get bored.

Central

Holland Village - Clementi - Bukit Timah

Holland Village is a hamlet tucked away behind the Singapore Botanic Gardens and is less than 10 minutes away from Orchard Road. This little spot has been referred to as Singapore's "Bohemian" enclave because of its variety of art galleries, artisan shoe shops, tarot card readers and shops selling ethnic products. A traditional favourite for expats, Holland Village is served by its own MRT station. Holland Road leads to the Sixth Avenue and Clementi, both of which offer affordable detached houses, apartments and condominiums. A trip to the CBD takes approximately 30 - 40 minutes and the area is close to international schools like the United World College of South East Asia, the Tanglin Trust School and the National University of Singapore, which is Singapore's first university. Bukit Timah, on the other hand, is a well-established residential area that stretches all the way to the Bukit Timah Nature Reserve. It is close to Orchard Road and international schools and clubs like the Japanese Association, the Hollandse Club and the British Club. It is also home to the Italian Supplementary School (Scuola Suppletoria Italiana Singapore), which is strategically located at Bukit Tinggi Road.

Sentosa

Previously called Pulau Blakang Mati, this popular resort island offers exclusive homes at a high price, complete with unparalleled sea views. Attractions include a 2 km long sheltered beach, biking trails, golf courses, private boat berths and the Resorts World Sentosa, featuring the Universal Studios Singapore theme park. Sentosa offers a respite from the hustle and bustle of city life, without being disconnected from it. A monorail train brings Sentosa residents to Vivo City, one of Singapore's largest shopping malls and the closest MRT station which is Harbourfront.

West

Upper Bukit Timah Road

To the west of Bukit Timah lies the Upper Bukit Timah area, where you can find a wide choice of good-value condominiums, semi-detached houses and several shopping centres. It also contains a rustic Dairy Farm Nature Park that provides numerous recreational and leisure facilities. Multiple expressways make it easily accessible for car owners. It now has MRT access as well.

Pasir Panjang

Home to the recently renovated West Coast Park, Pasir Panjang is a new, up-and-coming residential area in Singapore, with its own MRT station and modern condominiums. Aside from the cool breezes of the South China Sea, there is no end to the leisure activities available here, with numerous recreational facilities at the West Coast Park, the Republic of Singapore Yacht Club, the Labrador Nature Reserve and the Tanjong Berlayer Park.

East

East Coast

The East Coast area stretches for 18km and is another popular neighbourhood amongst expats. The East Coast Park, a breezy park with numerous cycling, running and entertainment options makes the East Coast area an attractive neighbourhood for getting together with family and friends. The area provides a variety of housing options for various budgets and the East Coast Parkway (ECP), Kallang - Paya Lebar Expressway (KPE) and Pan-Island Expressway (PIE) provide easy access to the city and to the airport. International schools such as the United World College of South East Asia (UWCSEA), the Canadian International School and the Chatsworth International School also have their campuses here.

Katong

Affectionately known as the 'Home of the Peranakans', the Katong/Joo Chiat area is a treasure trove of well-preserved heritage shophouses, quaint shops and restaurants catering for the culinary needs of this traditional and unique community. A perfect blend of modern and colonial bungalows as well as large shopping malls such as Parkway Parade and I12 Katong are also scattered around the area.

Siglap - Bedok

One of the oldest residential areas in Singapore, the Siglap and Bedok areas are far from the city centre but are jewels in their own right. They offer a village-like tranquillity that stands in contrast to the busy urban atmosphere that Singapore is known for. As a result of their long history, housing options are remarkably varied, from HDB apartments to townhouses, condominiums to spacious, detached bungalows. The areas are also well served by MRT connections running along to the EXPO Convention and Exhibition Centre, as well as to the airport.

North

Thomson

The Thomson and Upper Thomson areas are home to the MacRitchie, Pierce and Seletar reservoirs. Condominiums here are generally more spacious and affordable. Singapore's famous wildlife attractions (the Singapore Zoo, Night Safari and River Safari) are also nearby, making it a fantastic regular hangout for parents with young children. Moreover, it is served by good bus routes and a MRT line that has recently been completed.

Woodlands

Woodlands is another favourite among many expats primarily for its spacious, reasonably-priced houses, and the strategically-located Singapore American School. Not only does this area have a suburban ambience, it is also near the Woodlands Checkpoint: one of the two access points from Singapore to Malaysia.

Seletar - Yio Chu Kang - Yishun

Right in the heart of Singapore this area offers plenty of affordable houses and condominiums. Seletar Air Base has a small cluster of conservation black-and-white houses which you can apply for (see 'types of housing'). The area is convenient for parents who wish to send their children to the American, Australian and French schools, as well as the XCL World Academy.

Choosing your new house

Singapore has a wide variety of housing options, with solutions for both young professionals and families. Knowing the type of housing that best suits you will bring you one step closer to finding your dream home. Here are a few options for you.

HDB

Housing & Development Board flats

These homes have been around since the 1960s. Built by the government's Housing Development Board (HDB), they take the form of high-rise public housing that accommodates over 80% of Singapore residents. These flats are located in residential areas, which are self-contained satellite towns with schools, supermarkets, clinics, hawker centres, and sports and recreational facilities. HDB flats are a very convenient option for individuals looking for affordable and practical accommodation. NOTE: foreigner nationals may only rent HDB flats; only Singaporean citizens and permanent residents are eligible to buy them.

Condominiums

Similar to HDBs in terms of architecture, condominiums (also known as condos) are built and run by private companies. Bonding with the local community is made easy through big social spaces, gyms, swimming pools, communal areas and barbeque areas.

Shophouses and Conservation Homes

These houses date back to the pre-war era and are usually part of two or three storey structures, decorated with colourful shutters or tile work. Originating from the 18th century, shophouses historically featured a shop on the ground floor and a residential space, intended to accommodate one or more families, either at the back of the building or on the second floor. Similar to shophouses, black-and-white houses are conservation homes offering more distinct reminders of the colonial era in Singapore. Painted white with black trimmings, they range from quaint bungalows to large mansions which include separate guest quarters, parking areas and pool houses.

Serviced Apartments

Lastly, serviced apartments are an excellent choice for temporary accommodation. These fully-furnished apartments include hotel-style perks such as maid services and free buffet breakfasts.

This guide aims to provide a general overview for doing business in Singapore. The information provided in this guide is general in nature and is not intended as a substitute to any legal, tax and/or professional advice.

In planning this guide, we have relied on information provided by the main Singapore government agencies, such as:

- a) Inland Revenue Authority of Singapore, ("IRAS") the Singapore tax authority;
- b) Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority ("ACRA"), the national regulator of business entities in Singapore;
- c) Ministry of Manpower ("MOM"), the agency responsible for formulation and implementation of policies related to the workforce in Singapore;
- d) Immigration and Checkpoints Authority ("ICA"), the agency responsible for the security of Singapore's borders;
- e) Singapore Customs, the lead agency on trade facilitation and revenue enforcement matters in Singapore.

Singapore at a glance

Government and Legal System

Singapore is a republic with a parliamentary system of Government, based on the Westminster Model. The roots of Singapore's legal system can be traced back to the English legal system and it has evolved over the years.

The sources of law are derived from the Singapore Constitution, legislation, subsidiary legislation (e.g. Rules and Regulations, etc.) and common law (a.k.a judge-made law):

- The Constitution is the supreme law of the land and lays down the basic framework for the three organs of state, namely, the Executive, the Legislature and the Judiciary.
- The Executive includes the Cabinet and the Attorney-General. The Cabinet comprises the Prime Minister and Ministers appointed from among the Members of Parliament and is responsible for the general direction and control of the Government.
- The Legislature comprises the President and Parliament and is the legislative authority responsible for enacting legislation. Parliament is made up of elected, non-constituency and nominated Members of Parliament.
- The Judiciary consists of the Supreme Court and the State Courts and the head of the Judiciary is the Chief Justice.

The President is the head of state and not a member of any of the 3 branches. The President's authority is required by the Legislature at the final stage of passing legislation.

Foreign Relations

Singapore maintains diplomatic relations with 189 UN member states, with three exceptions being the Central African Republic, Monaco and South Sudan.

Singapore is a member of the United Nations, World Trade Organization, East Asia Summit, and the Commonwealth of Nations, among others. The City-State is fully committed to the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), of which it is a founding member.

Singapore is the headquarters of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Secretariat, the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council (PECC) Secretariat, and is regularly the host city for many international conferences and events.

From a foreign investor's perspective, Singapore has signed Avoidance of Double Taxation Agreements ("DTAs"), limited DTAs and Exchange of Information Arrangements with around 100 jurisdictions.

Principle structure for doing business

Business Structures

Brief overview of the most common business structure

Singapore offers a wide range of business structures, catering to various needs, from individual entrepreneurs to multinational corporations. The choice of business structure depends on various factors such as taxation, liability, compliance obligations, and business goals. Registrations with the Accounting & Corporate Regulatory Authority (ACRA) of Singapore are required before commencement of business.

Sole Proprietorship & Partnership

A Sole Proprietorship is the simplest business structure in Singapore, owned and managed by a single individual. A Partnership, on the other hand, involves from two to twenty owners. Both structures lack a separate legal identity, meaning the owners are personally liable for all business debts and losses. Profits from these businesses are taxed as personal income based on the owners' individual tax rates.

Individuals who are at least 18 years old and are a Singapore Citizen, Singapore Permanent Resident, or an eligible Work Visa holder can set up a sole proprietorship or a partnership.

Foreigners who are residing overseas must adhere to specific requirements like appointing at least one locally resident authorised representative and engaging a registered filing agent for submitting the application.

Sole proprietorships and partnerships must be registered with the ACRA; the registration term is from 1 to 3 years, and it can be renewed.

Private Company Limited by Shares

A Private Company Limited by Shares (commonly known as Private Limited Company) is the most common business structure in Singapore used by foreign investors and business owners, due – amongst others – to its limited liability protection and access to corporate tax reliefs. The company is a separate legal entity, meaning shareholders' having liabilities limited to their investment in the company (share capital), it is able to sue or be sued in its name and to own property.

The company is required to comply with the statutory and disclosure requirements of the Singapore Companies Act, which include filings of annual returns, general meetings, and details of shareholders and ultimate beneficiary owns, directors, company secretary, auditors, amongst others.

The company must have at least one secretary and one director who are locally resident in Singapore. There are statutory provisions for exemption from preparing and/or filing financial statements and holding annual general meetings if certain conditions are met.

A Private Limited Company has perpetual succession until it is shut down or struck off from the ACRA Register.

Limited Partnership (LP)

A Limited Partnership (LP) consists of at least one general partner who manages the business and bears unlimited liability with at least one limited partner who does not take part in the management of the LP and has liability limited to their investment.

At least one of the general partners must be locally resident. Otherwise, the LP must appoint a local manager.

Limited Liability Partnership (LLP)

An LLP combines the flexibility of a partnership with the limited liability protection of a private limited company. It requires at least two partners and has a separate legal identity, ensuring that partners are not personally liable for business debts.

The LLP is required to appoint a locally resident manager.

Foreign Business Options

• Branch of a Foreign Company

A branch allows a foreign company to operate in Singapore without forming a separate legal entity. As the branch is an extension of the foreign parent company, the foreign parent company is directly liable for the debts and liability of the branch. The branch must appoint a locally resident authorised representative.

• Representative Office (RO)

A Representative Office (RO) is a temporary set-up for a foreign entity to assess the business environment in Singapore before deciding to set up more permanently.

A RO has no legal status so it cannot engage in any commercial activities for profit.

A RO must apply to Enterprise Singapore and other relevant authorities depending on the nature of business. Once approved, it has a validity period of one year. Extension of the RO will only be granted on a case-by-case basis up to a maximum of three years. ROs which decide to continue their presence in Singapore thereafter should register their operations with ACRA.

LICENSING OF BUSINESS ACTIVITIES

In Singapore, a business license is a permit issued by the relevant authorities that allows businesses to operate legally in Singapore. Not all businesses require licenses as it depends on the nature of business activities being carried out.

Some common types of businesses which require a business license include employment or travel agencies, education, food and beverage, financial services and shipping.

Taxation

Corporate Taxation

Brief overview

Singapore imposes a flat corporate income tax rate of 17% on taxable income for both local and foreign companies.

Taxes on corporate income

Singapore applies a mix of remittance-based and territorial tax system where tax is imposed on the income of any person:

- Accruing in or derived from Singapore; or
- Received in Singapore from outside Singapore, unless exemption applies.

Taxable income includes:

- Gains or profits from any trade or business
- Investment income such as dividends, interest and rental
- Royalties and licensing fees
- Other gains that are revenue in nature

Capital gains are not taxable in Singapore while income like shipping income, gains on disposal of equity instruments and foreign-sourced dividends, branch profits and service income are exempted from tax if certain conditions are met.

Foreign-sourced income

Foreign-sourced income is subjected to tax in Singapore if that income is remitted to Singapore and are not exempted from tax pursuant to the Singapore law. Foreign-sourced incomes are defined as foreign income that does not arise from a trade or business carried on in Singapore.

Non-resident individuals and foreign businesses that are not operating in or from Singapore can remit their foreign income to Singapore without being taxed on the income.

When the foreign-sourced income is subjected to tax in Singapore and overseas, tax reliefs are available to alleviate the double taxation suffered:

- To provide reliefs from double taxation, Singapore has entered into Avoidance of Double Taxation Agreement (DTA) with various jurisdictions. For example, Italy has a DTA with Singapore that covers the specified foreign income that includes, but not limited to, business profits, dividends, interest, royalties and capital gains.
- Tax exemption on specified foreign-sourced income such as foreign-sourced dividends, foreign branch profits and foreign-sourced service income subject to qualifying conditions.
- Foreign tax credit for the taxes paid in the foreign jurisdiction against the Singapore tax payable on the same income.

Withholding Tax (WHT)

Withholding tax (WHT) applies when certain payments like royalty, interest and technical service fee are made to non-resident individuals or entities. The payer is required to withhold a percentage of the payment and remit it to the Singapore tax authority IRAS. WHT rates vary according to the nature of payment and availability of DTAs.

Good and Service Tax (GST)

Goods and Services Tax (GST) is a consumption tax levied on the import of goods as well as nearly all supplies of goods and services in Singapore. GST is the equivalent of the Value-Added Tax in other countries.

The current GST rate in Singapore is 9% and registration with IRAS is required for businesses with annual revenue exceeding $1 million.

Exported goods and international services can be zero-rated (0%) subject to certain conditions being met.

Certain supplies are exempted from GST. They include the provision of most financial services, supply of digital payment tokens, sale and lease of residential properties, and importation and local supply of investment precious metals.

Customs & Excise Duty

Customs duty is levied on dutiable goods imported into Singapore and excise duty is levied on goods manufactured in, or imported into, Singapore.

Dutiable goods include intoxicating liquors, motor vehicles, tobacco and petroleum products.

Property Tax

Owners of properties in Singapore pay property tax whether the property is owner-occupied, rented out or left vacant. It is calculated based on the annual value of the property with a tax rate that can range from 0% to 36% depending on whether it is owner/non-owner-occupied or residential/commercial property.

Stamp Duty

Stamp duty is levied on documents relating to transactions on immovable property and any stock and shares. These include leasing of properties, sale, purchase or transfer of property or shares.

Buyers of properties are required to pay Buyer's Stamp Duty (BSD) with progressive rates ranges from 1% to 6% applied on the purchase price or market value of the property whichever is higher. Depending on the nationality of the buyer and the number of properties already owned by the buyer, additional BSD may be imposed.

Likewise, sellers of properties are also required to pay Seller's Stamp Duty (SSD). The applicable rates depend on the type and holding period of the property, with higher rates for disposal made within the first few years of purchase.

Tax Exemption Schemes

Singapore offers various tax exemption schemes to support the business communities. These exemption schemes help to reduce the effective tax rate of the companies.

New Start-Up Tax Exemption Scheme

To encourage entrepreneurship, new start-ups can benefit from the following tax exemptions for their first 3 consecutive YAs, subject to conditions:

- 75% exemption on the first $100,000 of normal chargeable income; and
- A further 50% exemption on the next $100,000.

Companies whose principal activity are that of investment holding and property development for sale or investment are not eligible for this tax exemption.

Partial tax exemption (PTE)

All companies after the first 3 years will be eligible for partial tax exemption (PTE) on the first $200,000 of chargeable income at the following rates:

- 75% exemption on the first $10,000 of chargeable income; and
- A further 50% exemption on the next $190,000.

Tax Rebate

During the Budget 2025, it was announced that a corporate tax rebate will be granted as follows:

- A Corporate Income Tax rebate of 50% ("CIT rebate") of the corporate tax payable (excluding final withholding tax levied on income) capped at $40,000, will be granted to all taxpaying companies for the Year of Assessment (YA) 2025; or
- A one-off non-taxable CIT Rebate Cash Grant ("CIT Rebate Cash Grant") of $2,000 for eligible companies that have employed at least one local employee (Singapore Citizen or Permanent Resident) in 2024, whichever is the higher amount.

The maximum total benefits of CIT Rebate and CIT Rebate Cash Grant that a company may receive is $40,000.

Corporate tax declaration and filings

All Singapore companies are required to file annual tax returns electronically with IRAS. Annual tax returns include two filings:

- Estimated Chargeable Income - an estimate of a company's taxable income, must be filed within 3 months of the company's financial year-end; and
- Corporate income tax returns must be filed by November 30 of each year.

Individuals

Brief overview

All income earned in Singapore is subjected to income tax, while overseas income received in Singapore is not taxable, unless it is received through a partnership in Singapore or related to an employment in Singapore.

Tax Residency

Individuals are considered tax residents in Singapore if they meet any of the following conditions:

Singapore Citizen or Singapore Permanent Resident (SPR) who normally resides in Singapore; or

- Foreigners who have stayed/worked in Singapore:
 - for at least 183 days in the previous calendar year; or
 - continuously for 3 consecutive years; or
 - A continuous period straddling two calendar years, totaling at least 183 days.

Taxes on personal Income

Personal income includes any wages, salary, leave pay, fee, commission, bonus, or allowance received in respect of the employment whether in money or in otherwise. Rental and contributions to pensions and provident funds paid by the employer are also taxable for the employee except where certain conditions are met.

Tax residents may claim personal reliefs like earned income relief and spouse relief if certain conditions are met and are taxed based on progressive tax rates ranging from 2% to 24%. Higher income earners pay a higher tax rate.

Non-residents are taxed at the higher of a flat rate of 15% or the progressive resident tax rate. Director's fees, consultant's fees and all other income are generally taxed at 24% and non-residents are not eligible to claim personal reliefs.

During the Budget 2025, it was announced that a personal income tax rebate will be granted to all tax residents individuals for YA2025. The rebate will be 60% of tax payable, capped at $200 per taxpayer.

Inheritance, estate and gift taxes

Singapore does not impose inheritance tax or estate duty as it has been removed since 2008.

Gifts given to employees are not taxable if they are not substantial in value and are generally available to all staff. However, if the gift exceeds the exemption threshold of $200, the full value is taxable.

For gifts of immovable property and shares, stamp duty will apply.

Individual tax declaration and filings

Every employer is required to complete a yearly return of remuneration (Form IR8A) for employment income for every employee and it must provide the employees with the form by the 28th of February of the next year.

Based on the income information received, the employee will then submit the personal tax declaration to IRAS by the 15th of April of each year.

Tax Clearance for Foreigners

For foreign employees, tax clearance with IRAS is required when the employee leaves Singapore due to overseas posting or termination of the employment. This applies to all work pass holders.

Employers are required to declare the employee's income details to IRAS at least one month before the employee ceases employment in Singapore via Form IR21. Employers are required to withhold all monies due to the employee until the tax liability is cleared with IRAS.

Employment regulations

Overview of employment regulations

Singapore has a comprehensive framework governing employment, ensuring fair treatment of workers while supporting business needs. The key employment regulations are outlined in the Employment Act.

In Singapore, the following individuals are covered under the Employment Act:

- Workmen (doing manual labor) earning up to $4,500 per month.
- Non-workmen employees earning up to $2,600 per month.
- Employees in managerial or executive positions (PMEs) are partially covered.

Minimum Wage

Singapore does not have a universal minimum wage. However, Singapore adopts the Progressive Wage Model (PWM), which prescribes minimum wages for Singapore citizens and PR for certain industries like cleaning and security. This minimum wage increases as workers undergo training and take on more responsibilities.

Working hours & Overtime

The standard work week is generally 44 hours, capped at 9 hours per day or 48 hours per week depending on the nature of industry.

Workers covered under the Employment Act (except for PMEs) are entitled to overtime if these limits are exceeded. For overtime work, the employer must pay at least 1.5 times the hourly basic rate of pay.

Leave entitlements

• Annual Leave

Employees are entitled to paid annual leave once they have worked for at least 3 months for the employer, starting with 7 days in for first year of service. The annual leave increases with years of service.

• Sick Leave

Employees are eligible for paid sick leave once they have worked for at least 3 months for the employer. Eligible employees can receive up to 14 days for outpatient sick leave and 60 days for hospitalisation leave.

• Childcare Leave

Eligible working parents of Singapore citizen children are entitled to 6 days of paid childcare leave per year until the year the child turns 7 years old. Parents of non-citizens can get 2 days of extended childcare leave a year.

• Maternity Leave

Eligible working mothers are entitled to 12 to 16 weeks of paid maternity leave, depending on the number of children and certain factors like citizenship of the child and length of employment.

• Paternity Leave

Fathers of Singapore citizen children are entitled to 4 weeks (wef 1 April 2025) of paid paternity leave.

Social Security Contributions

Central Provident Fund (CPF) is a comprehensive social security retirement savings plan for Singaporeans and Permanent Residents funded by contributions from employers and employees. Employment Pass holders are not subject to CPF.

Depending on age, CPF contribution rates can range from 12.5% to 37% of the monthly wages.

In addition to CPF, as required by law under the Skills Development Levy (SDL) Act, employers are required to pay a monthly SDL for all employees rendering services in Singapore, including foreign employees and employees employed on casual, part-time, or temporary basis.

Overview of Work Permits and VISA

All foreigners who intend to work in Singapore must have a valid work pass before starting work. Work passes vary based on salary, skill level, and occupation.

Employment Pass (EP)

The EP is designed for foreign professionals, managers and executives with a minimum salary of $5,600 (wef 1 January 2025) monthly. This increases progressively with age, up to $10,700 for those in the mid-40s.

The EP applicant will be assessed under the Complementarity Assessment Framework (COMPASS) which evaluates individual attributes like salary and qualifications and company-related attributes like diversity and support for local employment. No quota or level is required.

The pass is valid for up to 2 years for first time applications and subsequent renewals will be valid for up to 3 years.

EntrePass

The EntrePass is targeted at foreign entrepreneurs who have started or intend to start a private limited company in Singapore that is venture-backed or possesses innovative technologies.

Factors like experience in investor fund raising, support from Government-recognised or internationally renowned investors, entrepreneur experience particularly in area of technology, holds intellectual property and ongoing research collaborations eligible institutions in Singapore are considered in the assessment of the eligibility of the applicant.

The pass is valid up to 1 year for a new pass and first renewal while subsequent renewals will be valid for up to 2 years.

Overseas Networks & Expertise Pass (ONE)

A special pass introduced to attract top talent in business, arts and culture, sports, academia and research.

To be eligible, the applicant must earn a salary of at least $30,000 per month with an established company prior to the application or with the prospective employer.

If the applicant does not meet the minimum salary criteria, he should have outstanding achievements in his field.

The pass is valid for up to 5 years for first time applications and subsequent renewals.

Personalised Employment Pass (PEP)

Designed for high-earning professionals, the PEP offers greater job flexibility across industries than the EP. The applicant can hold a job in any sector and has no need for reapplication for a pass in the event of a job change with unemployment period of less than 6 months.

However, it has a much higher qualifying salary than the EP, at $22,500 per month and no quota or levy is required. The pass is valid for 3 years with no option for renewal.

S Pass

The S Pass offers flexibility to employers to hire skilled workers who may not meet the EP criteria. New applicants (except for financial services sector) need to earn at least $3,150 a month which is expected to increase in 2025. Employers are subject to a quota and levy.

The pass is valid for up to 2 years for first time applications and subsequent renewals will be valid for up to 3 years.

Work Permit (WP) for Migrant Workers

For semi-skilled migrant workers, the Work Permit (WP) allows such individuals to work in certain sectors like construction, manufacturing, marine shipyard, process or services sector. There is no minimum qualifying salary, but employers are limited by a quota for their industry and subjected to a levy.

The pass is valid up to 2 years depending on the validity of the worker's passport, security bond and employment period. It is renewable subject to certain criteria.

Dependent pass (DP)

Holders of EP and S Pass can apply for a DP for their family members if they earn a minimum fixed monthly salary of $6,000.

The validity of the pass is tied to the validity of the main work pass or up to the duration requested, whichever is shorter.

Long-Term Visa Pass (LTVP)

A foreigner who is a family member of a Singapore citizen, Singapore PR or a student studying in Singapore may be eligible for a long-term visa pass.

Applications are assessed based on factors such as individual family ties to Singaporeans, economic contributions, qualifications, age, family profile and length of residency.

Permanent Residency

Singapore offers Permanent Residency (PR) to individuals who wish to live and work in the country on a long-term basis. It grants access to public housing, health care subsidies and pathways to citizenship.

It is open for application from family members of a Singapore citizen or Singapore PR, holders of an EP or S Pass, students studying in Singapore and investors under the Global Investor Program.

PR applications are assessed based on several factors like age, education, employment status, income, existence of family ties and contribution to Singapore.

Healthcare in Singapore

Singapore boasts one of the best healthcare systems in the world. It provides easy access and its standards, not only in curative medicine but also in prevention, are exemplary. There is no shortage of medical professionals available to take care of your healthcare needs.

Types of Healthcare

In Singapore, healthcare is delivered via a multi-functional approach consisting of outpatient primary care, specialist and emergency care. Whilst doctors can be found practically everywhere in Singapore, it is important to find one who understands your individual needs.

Primary care

For common illnesses and non-emergency illnesses, you should visit the primary care clinics first to get fast and prompt care. There are General Practitioners (GPs) in General Practitioner Clinics and Polyclinics in Singapore who are highly qualified to look after your primary healthcare needs.

Polyclinics

Polyclinics are a public 'one-stop' healthcare centres that provide outpatient medical services such as medical follow-ups after discharge from hospital, maternal and child health, immunisation, health screening and education as well as diagnostic and pharmaceutical services. There are currently 23 polyclinics, located throughout the country and distributed in a manner which is proportionate to the population density. They are open from 8.30am – 4.30pm on Mondays to Fridays and 8am – 12.30pm on Saturdays. They are closed on Sundays and Public Holidays.

General Practitioners' Clinics (GP clinics)

Across Singapore, there are approximately 2,300 private GP clinics. Since there are so many clinics it's likely that you'll be able to find one that is relatively convenient to visit no matter where you are in Singapore. GPs are qualified to address your primary medical needs and can carry out annual check-ups and chronic care. GPs have flexible working hours and are generally open all day until about 8.30pm. There are also some clinics operate 24 hours a day and are open on weekends and public holidays.

Allied Healthcare Services

Do some research and ask your local and expat friends for advice on accredited and effective professional allied healthcare service providers. The following section looks in more detail at three areas that are becoming increasingly prevalent here in Singapore.

Chiropractors

Chiropractic is a form of alternative medicine that aims to address musculoskeletal issues with massages and mechanical adjustment, particularly in the spine.

NOTE: Chiropractors are not doctors.

www.chiropractic.org.sg

Physiotherapists

Physical therapy, also known as physiotherapy, is one of the allied health professions. It uses mechanical force and movements, manual therapy, exercise therapy and electrotherapy to cure impairments and promote mobility and function. A variety of clinics can be found on the web.

Nutritionists & Dietitians

Nutritionists and dietitians aim to improve overall health and wellness by recommending changes in diet. They can advise on how to lower the consumption of certain nutrients and provide guidance on meal and snack planning. Find out more on the Singapore Nutrition and Dietetics Association's website: www.snda.org.sg

Traditional and Complementary Healthcare

While the healthcare systems in Singapore are deeply rooted in the Western model, the presence of diverse Asian ethnic groups has also seen the introduction and adoption of alternative medicinal forms. These healthcare practices focus on holistic and natural treatments, to improve strength and wellbeing. When looking for such complementary therapies, which you may never have used, you should inform the practitioner about your medical history, any treatments you have received/are receiving and of any medicine you are taking.

The various forms of traditional/complementary medicine are as follows:

Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM)

The most common form of complementary therapy in Singapore, it is so popular that Singaporeans often choose it over western medicine. TCM is often used to treat issues such as chronic neck, knee or back pain, arthritis, sports injuries, sciatica, migraines and help with weight loss, to name a few. It is highly respected and considered particularly effective for those with allergies. Reputable TCM clinics that you might consider are:

Singapore is famous for its variety of food from many different cultures and cuisines. From Chinese, Indian, and Malay... to Vietnamese, Filipino, and Indonesian, there are no limits to the creativity and diversity of Singapore food scene.

There are hundreds of hawker centres all over Singapore and they are a favourite for food connoisseurs who want to treat themselves to their favourite cuisine. Singaporeans also love to queue, so if you see a food stall with a long queue, chances are the stall is serving delicious local cuisine! Don't know where to start? Look for these Singapore's must try local delights: Chicken Rice, Chilli Crab, Laksa. The most famous hawker centres in Singapore are:

Chinatown Complex Food Centre

Experience the Local Celebrations

Learn more about Singapore through the vibrant festivals.

As a nation that's home to a wide range of cultures, ethnicities and religions, Singapore's diversity is its strength. The majority of the population is made up of ethnic Chinese people (74.2%), Malays (13.2%), and ethnic Indians (9.2%) and each community has its own festivities, traditions and practices. Singapore has a strong connection with its past, honouring its history by drawing from its eclectic mix of cultures.

National Day

The National Day of Singapore is celebrated every year on 9 August, in commemoration of Singapore's independence from Malaysia in 1965. Many different ceremonies take place on this date, such as the National Day Parade, usually held at Marina Bay, in the presence of the Prime Minister and includes a fireworks display. To encourage the audience to arrive early and take their seats, there is a variety of different types of entertainment before the parade, including sky-diving displays, performances by local choirs, concerts by school bands and lots of fun to keep the audience entertained.

Hari Raya Puasa (Eid)

Marking the end of the Islamic holy month of Ramadan is the festival of Eid, known in Singapore as Hari Raya Aidilfitri or Hari Raya Puasa. A month leading up to Hari Raya, visitors can drop by Geylang Serai to enjoy the festival light-ups. In addition, there will also be a physical bazaar and a myriad of cultural programmes that visitors can participate in to experience the festive vibes.

Chinese New Year

Also known as Lunar New Year, Chinese New Year is the Chinese festival that celebrates the beginning of a new year in the traditional Chinese calendar and is undoubtedly the most important event in the Chinese calendar. Festivities begin weeks before the official start of Chinese New Year, so you can head down to Chinatown for the street illuminations, in which the streets are lined with beautifully-designed lanterns. You will also be able to soak up the festive atmosphere throughout the island with celebrations in the form of colourful processions, seasonal markets and lively lion dance performances.

Christmas

Christmas in Singapore is a big celebration that gives locals another excuse to do what they love most - eat and shop. The famous shopping belt on Orchard Road is spectacularly lit up every December to ramp up the festive mood, and serves as a blazing reminder to hit the malls. Meanwhile, Christmas spreads and Yuletide menus pop up at restaurants across the island, giving a festive twist to an already impressive dining scene. It's not all indulgence though. At its heart, the holiday is still a special day for Christians in Singapore, who attend Christmas service in commemoration of the birth of Jesus Christ.

Deepavali

Every autumn, the Hindu festival of lights called Deepavali (also known as “Diwali”) celebrates the triumph of good over evil. Thousands of Hindu families in the city and abroad transform their homes into beacons of light, exchange gifts, enjoy meals together and perform pooja (prayers) to their deities such as Lakshmi, the goddess of fertility and prosperity.

Marina Bay New Year Countdown

New Year celebrations in Singapore are an unforgettable affair, with festivities filling our bustling streets and a range of spectacular sights to savour in the heart of the city. While you’ll be able to soak in year-end celebrations all across our island, the Marina Bay Singapore Countdown is one of the city’s most iconic celebrations. www.marinabaycountdown.gov.sg

Chingay

The Chingay Parade is an annual marvel of dazzling floats, dancing dragons and stilt walkers. It may be held during the Chinese New Year festivities, but this wondrous event brings together people and performances from across Singapore’s cultural spectrum, and is celebrated by Chinese, Malays, Indians and Eurasians alike.

La Braceria Pizza & Grill

Family owned and operated Italian restaurant in Bukit Timah, Singapore. We opened our doors on September 2005. Since that day Fabio Iannone, his family and his staff have been serving up the best Italian food in Singapore. After three successful years in Greenleaf Road (along Sixth Avenue), the restaurant moved in to Greendale Avenue where it is a hidden gem of an Italian restaurant that is tucked behind a more conspicuous row of restaurants in the Greenwood enclave in Bukit Timah.

La Braceria is renowned for its authentic, southern Italian cuisine, a gastronomic tribute to Italy's Neapolitan region. Menus are changed seasonally to reflect the authenticity of the food while using the very finest Italian ingredients and what is freshest in local markets. Apart from the delicious cuisine, La Braceria offers guests a cozy setting with its down-to-earth décor and rustic charm. The restaurant is the perfect rendezvous spot for families and friends with its hearty food and selections of wines.

La Braceria's kitchen is headed by Chef Giovanni Minarelli, whose latest menu embodies his experience and philosophy of making authentic Italian cuisine. Chef Giovanni's forte is in pasta, seafood and steaks, and with that, he is rather confident that he will impress La Braceria's patrons.

THE ACADEMY AND ITS OBJECTIVES

The Italian Academy of Cuisine, which is a Cultural Institution of the Italian Republic since 2003, was founded in Milan on July 29, 1953 by Orio Vergani along with a group of talented experts in the field of culture, industry and journalism. Its mission is to defend and protect traditional Italian Cuisine, and to promote its diffusion and improvement in Italy and abroad. The Academy works with public officials, entities, associations, public and private institutions, and it can authoritatively guarantee objectivity and neutrality in its judgements in the field of cuisine thanks to its independence from any and all commercial interests.

Through its Study Center and its Delegations in Italy and abroad, the Academy works to promote initiatives aimed at spreading a broader understanding of the values of traditional Italian cuisine. This constitutes the basis for all its concrete innovations.

Those people with a direct commercial interest in the restaurant industry or culinary schools are not eligible for admission to the Academy.

MIPRONS srl

MIPRONS is developing an innovative space propulsion system based on water electrolysis, offering:

- Miniaturized design with efficiency and performance;
- Short lead times and simplified certification processes;
- Enhanced safety and environmental sustainability.

Our system utilizes water as a propellant, split in orbit into H₂ and O₂ thanks to an innovative electrolyzer. These gases are then ignited in a combustion chamber to generate thrust. The compact and powerful design allows installation on microsatellites, large satellites, and launcher kick-stages, enabling fast maneuvers such as orbit raising, de-orbiting, collision avoidance, and attitude control. Faster maneuvering enhances security against space threats and reduces in-orbit positioning times, leading to improved profitability.

Water-based propulsion simplifies system design by eliminating the need for pressurized tanks, security valves, and exotic materials, reducing DUAL USE & ITAR/EAR compliance constraints. It also prevents electromagnetic interference, allowing safer in-orbit servicing and human exploration missions with extended stationing capabilities.

SOFT MOVEMENT ACCORDING TO THEKKEKARA Pte Ltd

Soft Movement According to Thekkekara Pte Ltd by Thekkekara Predip and Annie is a company specialized in wellness and wellbeing.

The Thekkekara method is a completely natural technique, of Ayurvedic derivation, which aims to manage and potentially eliminate back pain and other spinal disorders. This technique does not involve the use of drugs and is divided into three phases. In the first phase, some muscle centers are stimulated to obtain the relaxation of contractures. In the second phase, the energy centers known as Chakras are stimulated. Finally, slow and gradual maneuvers are performed on the spinal column with the aim of obtaining active and passive muscle stretching, relaxation of the ligaments and adjacent tissues. The maneuvers are progressive and delicate; therefore, no pain is felt. They are performed on a normal massage table. Furthermore, to help the improvement process, some natural Indian essences with decontracting and anti-inflammatory properties are used. The main disorders on which the soft movement technique has shown greater effectiveness are: Low back pain; Neck pain; Whiplash; Back pain due to overweight, poor posture, excess physical activity etc.

Founded in May, 1978, Farmindustria – the association of pharmaceutical companies and member of Confindustria – counts today about 200 national and foreign-owned member companies operating in Italy.

With 63,500 highly qualified employees, the pharmaceutical industry in Italy plays a leading role in the international scenario. The overall pharmaceutical turnover amounts to 30 billion euro, with exports accounting for 73% of manufacturing of the 174 companies located in Italy.

With 6,000 researchers and investments for 2.5 billion euro each year (1.2 in manufacturing and 1.3 in R&D), Italy is buttressing its pharmaceutical research commitment, as demonstrated by 303 Italian biotechnological products under development, also thanks to the cooperation between public and private centres of excellence.

R&D and manufacturing are also vital for the activity of vaccines, which constitute an excellence of pharmaceutical industry.

In order to guarantee the fairest behaviour Farmindustria member companies have adopted a Code of Professional Conduct - today one of the most rigorous in Europe - that regulates not only the relations between companies but also their relations with the scientific and medical community.

Farmindustria, which is a member of the European (EFPIA) and International federations (IFPMA), pursues the achievement of a stable legislative framework and the outlining of policies by which the key role of pharmaceutical industry in enhancing the knowledge-based economy can get the right recognition, which may contribute to consolidating industrial presence on the territory and investments in research and manufacturing.

In order to convey the importance of pharmaceutical industry and Research, Farmindustria has started a “roadshow” through the Associated companies’ facilities, with the aim of providing a live demonstration of the production of value. Farmindustria has also presented the Orologio della Vita (Life Clock), which measures the contribution of medicines to the increase in life expectancy, and has created the website www.farmacie-vita.it.
