Message by Singapore's Minister for Transport and Minister-in-charge of Trade Relations for the ICCS's Annual Directory 2022/2023

MINISTER FOR TRANSPORT AND MINISTER-IN-CHARGE OF TRADE RELATIONS, SINGAPORE

It has been two years since the COVID-19 pandemic first emerged. Singapore has made the transition into living with COVID-19. We have significantly eased our safe management measures and safely reopened our borders to fully vaccinated travellers, reconnecting Singapore with the world. We could not have achieved these milestones without the unstinting support of local and foreign businesses, including the Italian business community in Singapore, through each successive wave of infections and variants. We hope this would provide a boost to business and tourism, especially between Italy and Singapore.

Even as we restore our international connectivity, businesses around the world will continue to face economic challenges and geopolitical uncertainties. It is ever more important that countries uphold the open, connected and rules-based global order that has been the foundation of growth for decades past. Italy's successful hosting of the G20 Summit and related meetings in 2021 is testament to Italy's commitment to the multilateral order, and contributions to the post-pandemic economic recovery.

On our part, Singapore has embarked on a Trade 2030 strategy to grow our trading volume, widen the types of trading activities in Singapore and expand trade with other parts of the world. Businesses here can look forward to deepening partnerships in new areas such as digitalisation and sustainability, and setting new standards with like-minded partners. We are committed to building Singapore's international trade network for the ultimate benefit of businesses and our workers.

As we chart the way forward, there are many opportunities for Singapore and Italy to work together and build on each other's strengths. For example, Singapore's Economic Development Board and the Italian Chamber of Commerce in Singapore (ICCS) signed a Memorandum of Understanding in February 2022 to promote business partnerships between Italian and Singapore companies in four strategic sectors, namely urban mobility, agri-tech, aerospace and packaging. Enterprise Singapore has also been working with ICCS to bring Italian SME brands into Singapore and the broader Southeast Asia region by partnering with Singapore e-commerce and logistics players.

I would like to commend the ICCS and Italian businesses for working closely with Singapore throughout the pandemic to emerge stronger together. We look forward to your continued partnership and support in the years ahead!

Message by H.E. Mario Andrea Vattani, Ambassador of Italy to Singapore

H. E. MARIO ANDREA VATTANI
AMBASSADOR OF ITALY TO SINGAPORE

Dear ICCS Members and Friends,

I am pleased of this opportunity to participate in the ICCS Directory 2022-2023. It gives me the chance to thank the leadership of the Chamber and all the companies that play an active role in its many programs and initiatives, also through its various Committees, which enjoy a constant and operational dialogue with the Embassy.

We all agree that Singapore plays a central role in the ASEAN region, and possibly in Asia as a whole. Its strategic position, its solid connectivity with other Asian countries makes it a central player, and a fundamental platform for many of our companies. In a context so rich in opportunities, ICCS is a precious partner for our Embassy and for the Italian Agency for Foreign Trade. Together we can support the growth of the Italian economic presence in Singapore, which we hope to see multiply in the next few years, with a positive effect on the framework of Italy-Singapore relations.

Today we can hope to start overcoming the obstacles caused worldwide by the pandemic, to recover from its harmful effects on supply chains, trade and economic growth. We also see new opportunities opening up for many Italian entrepreneurs in the more innovative sectors, from e-commerce to digitalization, from artificial intelligence to agri-tech. The commitment of our Embassy in the coming months will be to increase the visibility of the Italian presence in Singapore, enhancing its projects and initiatives. In this regard, I am pleased that the presentation of the ICCS Directory 2022-2023 is included this year in the Italian Festival. In just a few weeks, also thanks to the active contribution of ICCS and various Italian associations, the Italian Festival in Singapore has reached over forty events promoting our country's excellence in sectors ranging from culture, fashion and gastronomy to those of the industry, finance, technology and scientific research. At the same time, we count on our partnership with ICCS for an important challenge: that of increasing awareness in Italy concerning the opportunities offered by Singapore, a country which in many respects is able to anticipate trends that will be followed by the rest of the region and in other parts of the world. We find ourselves today in a prestigious showcase, right in the center of the fastest growing region of the world, where Italy deserves to play a leading role.

Message by Gionata Bosco, ICCS President

GIONATA BOSCO
PRESIDENT OF THE ITALIAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN SINGAPORE

Dear ICCS Members and Friends,

As the world emerges from the economic hardships brought about by the Covid-19 pandemic, the Italian Chamber of Commerce (ICCS) maintains its position as a dynamic force that strengthens bilateral trade and investment between Italy and Singapore. Leveraging ICCS as a powerful platform encompassing strategic partnerships, businesses have benefited from the commercial eco-system established to gain market access and develop growth opportunities in both ASEAN and the European Union.

This is indeed a period of VUCA (volatility, uncertainty, complexity and ambiguity) and the unity of our Board, the Staff Team and ICCS members shall shine through. The amalgamation of expertise, skills and knowledge will help us to thrive in these challenging times and propel our community to greater heights. Fostering an innovation-centric mindset and the Italian spirit of creativity, ongoing digital projects shall be integrated with face-to-face interactive activities, such as regional commercial missions, trade fairs and promotional events. Together with my team, I would like to advance the ICCS platform with the formation of a Digital Innovation Committee that focuses on technological trends, e-commerce and connecting Italian high growth start-ups with venture capitals in Singapore and ASEAN.

With the rise of geopolitical tensions globally and ICCS playing a crucial role in the promotion of bilateral economic relations between Italy and Singapore, we look forward to expanding our membership base and serving as a gateway between the European Union and ASEAN business communities.

The setting up of the "Singapore Italy Business Council" in Milan, a branch of ICCS in Italy, signifies the evolution of the desk that we already had at Banca Popolare di Sondrio in Milan. To boost bilateral cooperation between Singapore and Italy, we shall involve more of the Singaporean business community to become familiarized with the hard and soft policies of conducting business in Italy.

I am honored to serve as the President of the current Board 2022-2025 and would like to thank all friends and members of ICCS for your support, the Board and Staff Team for your commitment and H.E. Ambassador of Italy, Mario Vattani, and the Honorary Ambassador of Singapore, Ow Chio Kiat, for your generous and continuous support.

Getting around Singapore

Singapore's transport system is highly efficient and easy to navigate. The various modes of transport used on the island are as follows.

Driving and Riding

Non-Singaporeans can drive or ride on Singapore's roads, provided they have an International Driver's Permit. Should your license be in another language, make sure you carry an English translation. Drivers have a one-year grace period to obtain a Singapore driver's license, unless they become Permanent Residents, at which point a license conversion has to be done. This would require one to take the Basic Theory Test which can be booked online or at any one of the three driving centres located on different parts of the island.

Below are the names of the schools and their websites:

Bukit Batok Driving Centre -
www.bbdc.com.sg

Comfort DelGro Driving Centre - www.cdc.com.sg

Singapore Safety Driving Centre - www.ssdcl.com.sg

If you do not have a driving license and wish to obtain one, you can also sign up at any of the above-mentioned schools.

Taxis and private hire cars

Taxi services in Singapore are run by Comfort & Citycab, and SMRT Taxis, TransCab and Prime Taxi. Getting a taxi is generally easy as they can be flagged down on the main road. However, if you are hard-pressed for time, you can also call the hotlines to make a booking. This can also be done in advance with a pre-booking service through ride hailing applications such as Grab and Gojek.

Public Transportation: Buses and Trains

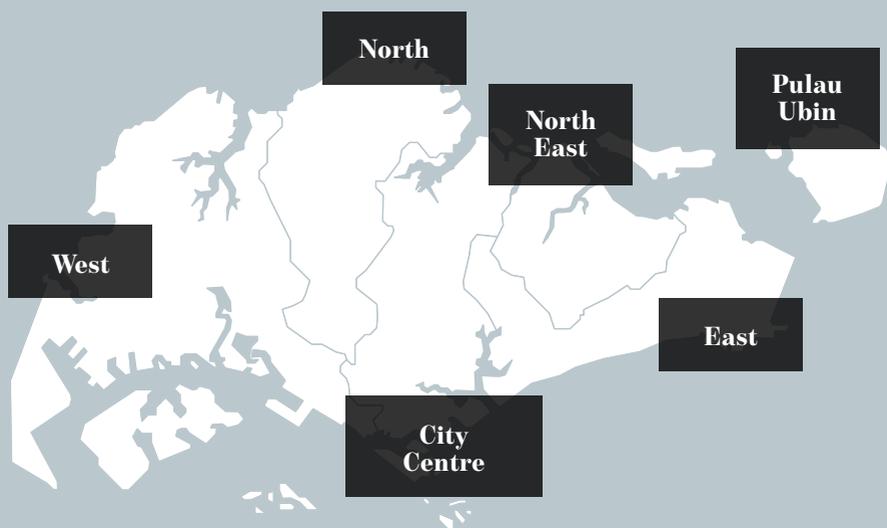

Singapore is equipped with one of the world's best rail and bus networks, making it convenient and affordable to commute by train or bus. Trains and buses operate from 5.30am to as late as 1am, depending on the location.

Bus times can be tracked on mobile apps such as "MyTransport" and "Google Maps". These apps also allow you to plan your journey by showing all the possible routes between your starting point and destination. There are currently several train lines in Singapore. There are also Light Rail Transits (LRTs) that link MRT stations with HDBs public housing estates to reach as many residential areas as possible.

Payments for train and bus rides can be made with a simple swipe of an EZ-Link card, a pre-paid smart card that allows you to pay for all your public transport travel. You can purchase one at most MRT stations and 7-11 stores. Cash payment is also accepted, but this is highly impractical on buses and is not accepted for the MRT.

Choosing your Neighbourhood

Moving abroad can be challenging, so there are certain aspects you should take into careful consideration before making the big move.

Here is a comprehensive overview of the different neighbourhoods and the types of home you could live in. The guide aims to provide you with more information that will make your transition smoother.

Firstly an important factor to take into consideration is the location of the accommodation. Singapore's neighbourhoods vary greatly, and each has its own unique characteristics and history.

City Centre

Orchard - Dhoby Ghaut - Newton

Orchard Road's bustling boulevard is a retail and dining paradise, with over 5,000 establishments including prominent shopping malls, restaurants, cinemas, bars, health and wellness centres. All your needs can be met within a mile. Locals and expats are offered the ultimate lifestyle experience, yet many of the surrounding neighbourhoods are green and quiet.

home to many embassies. With a mix of single-story and mostly low-rise condominiums, the Tanglin area exudes an air of serenity with its tree-lined roads and green surroundings. Although there are no Mass Rapid Transport (MRT) stations nearby, it is easily accessible by bus and strategically located near the Botanic Gardens, Orchard Road and Dempsey Hill. The latter boasts a mix of quaint furniture shops, art galleries, cafes and restaurants.

Robertson Quay - River Valley

Situated between Orchard Road and the Singapore River, Robertson Quay and River Valley are popular areas for young people who want to be near the Central Business District (CBD), so they can enjoy the wide range of amenities on offer and the buzzing nightlife. Robertson Quay boasts modern condominiums with impressive water views. Transportation is made easy via Clarke Quay MRT stations and the numerous bus services available here.

Central Business District (CBD) - Marina Bay

This area has an abundance of luxurious, high-rise new condominiums and is easily connected to Singapore's financial centre. It also has spectacular views of the island's breath-taking skyline. The small size and relatively high cost of apartments is compensated by the convenience of well-connected underground walkways, home to a large number of shops, supermarkets, restaurants, bars and MRT stations. With the famous Marina Bay Sands Integrated Resort, the Esplanade Theatres and numerous elegant eateries of One Fullerton Bay, you'll never get bored.

Tanglin - Jerojis Road

A walk and a world away from Orchard, Tanglin is a largely residential area that is

Holland Village - Clementi - Bukit Timah

Holland Village is a hamlet tucked away behind the Singapore Botanic Gardens and is less than 10 minutes away from Orchard Road. This little spot has been referred to as Singapore's "Bohemian" enclave because of its variety of art galleries, artisan shoe shops, tarot card readers and shops selling ethnic products. A traditional favourite for expats, Holland Village is served by its own MRT station. Holland Road leads to the Sixth Avenue and Clementi, both of which offer affordable detached houses, apartments and condominiums. A trip to the CBD takes approximately 30 - 40 minutes and the area is close to international schools like the United World College of South East Asia, the Tanglin Trust School and the National University of Singapore, which is Singapore's first university.

Bukit Timah, on the other hand, is a well-established residential area that stretches all the way to the Bukit Timah

Nature Reserve. It is close to Orchard Road and international schools and clubs like the Japanese Association, the Hollandse Club and the British Club. It is also home to the Italian Supplementary School (Scuola Supplementare Italiana Singapore), which is strategically located at Bukit Tinggi Road.

Sentosa

Previously called Pulau Blakang Mati, this popular resort island offers exclusive homes at a high price, complete with unparalleled sea views. Attractions include a 2 km long sheltered beach, biking trails, golf courses, private boat berths and the Resorts World Sentosa, featuring the Universal Studios Singapore theme park. Sentosa offers a respite from the hustle and bustle of city life, without being disconnected from it. A monorail train brings Sentosa residents to Vivo City, one of Singapore's largest shopping malls and the closest MRT station which is Harbourfront.

West

Upper Bukit Timah Road

To the west of Bukit Timah lies the Upper Bukit Timah area, where you can find a wide choice of good-value condominiums, semi-detached houses and several shopping centres. It also contains a rustic Dairy Farm Nature Park that provides numerous recreational and leisure facilities.

Multiple expressways make it easily accessible for car owners. It now has MRT access as well.

Pasir Panjang

Home to the recently renovated West Coast Park, Pasir Panjang is a new, up-and-coming residential area in Singapore, with its own MRT station and modern condominiums. Aside from the cool breezes of the South China Sea, there is no end to the leisure activities available here, with numerous recreational facilities at the West Coast Park, the Republic of Singapore Yacht Club, the Labrador Nature Reserve and the Tanjong Berlayer Park.

East

East Coast

The East Coast area stretches for 18km and is another popular neighbourhood amongst expats. The East Coast Park, a breezy park with numerous cycling, running and entertainment options makes the East Coast area an attractive neighbourhood for getting together with family and friends. The area provides a variety of housing options for various budgets and the East Coast Parkway (ECP), Kallang - Paya Lebar Expressway (KPE) and Pan-Island Expressway (PIE) provide easy access to the city and to the airport. International schools such as the United World College of South East Asia (UWCSEA), the Canadian International School and the Chatsworth International School also have their campuses here.

Katong

Affectionately known as the 'Home of the Peranakans', the Katong/Joo Chiat area is a treasure trove of well-preserved heritage shophouses, quaint shops and restaurants catering for the culinary needs of this traditional and unique community. A perfect blend of modern and colonial bungalows as well as large shopping malls such as Parkway Parade and I12 Katong are also scattered around the area.

Siglap - Bedok

One of the oldest residential areas in Singapore, the Siglap and Bedok areas are far from the city centre but are jewels in their own right. They offer a village-like tranquillity that stands in contrast to the busy urban atmosphere that Singapore is known for. As a result of their long history, housing options are remarkably varied, from HDB apartments to townhouses, condominiums to spacious, detached bungalows. The areas are also well served by MRT connections running along to the EXPO Convention and Exhibition Centre, as well as to the airport.

North

Thomson

The Thomson and Upper Thomson areas are home to the MacRitchie, Pierce and Seletar reservoirs. Condominiums here are generally more spacious and affordable. Singapore's famous wildlife attractions (the Singapore Zoo, Night Safari and River Safari) are also nearby, making it a fantastic regular hangout for parents with young children. Moreover, it is served by good bus routes and a MRT line that has recently been completed.

Woodlands

Woodlands is another favourite among many expats primarily for its spacious, reasonably-priced houses, and the strategically-located Singapore American School. Not only does this area have a suburban ambience, it is also near the Woodlands Checkpoint: one of the two access points from Singapore to Malaysia.

Seletar - Yio Chu Kang - Yishun

Right in the heart of Singapore this area offers plenty of affordable houses and condominiums. Seletar Air Base has a small cluster of conservation black-and-white houses which you can apply for (see 'types of housing'). The area is convenient for parents who wish to send their children to the American, Australian and French schools, as well as the XCL World Academy.

Choosing your New House

Singapore has a wide variety of housing options, with solutions for both young professionals and families. Knowing the type of housing that best suits you will bring you one step closer to finding your dream home. Here are a few options for you.

HDB _ Housing & Development Board flats

These homes have been around since the 1960s. Built by the government's Housing Development Board (HDB), they take the form of high-rise public housing that accommodates over 80% of Singapore residents. These flats are located in residential areas, which are self-contained satellite towns with schools, supermarkets, clinics, hawker centres, and sports and recreational facilities. HDB flats are a very convenient option for individuals looking for affordable and practical accommodation.

NOTE: foreigner nationals may only rent HDB flats; only Singaporean citizens and permanent residents are eligible to buy them.

Condominiums

Similar to HDBs in terms of architecture, condominiums (also known as condos) are built and run by private companies. Bonding with the local community is made easy through big social spaces, gyms, swimming pools, communal areas and bar-beque areas.

Shophouses and Conservation Homes

These houses date back to the pre-war era and are usually part of two or three storey structures, decorated with colourful shutters or tile work. Originating from the 18th century, shophouses historically featured a shop on the ground floor and a residential space, intended to accommodate one or more families, either at the back of the building or on the second floor.

Similar to shophouses, black-and-white houses are conservation homes offering more distinct reminders of the colonial era in Singapore. Painted white with black trimmings, they range from quaint bungalows to large mansions which include separate guest quarters, parking areas and pool houses.

Serviced Apartments

Lastly, serviced apartments are an excellent choice for temporary accommodation. These fully-furnished apartments include hotel-style perks such as maid services and free buffet breakfasts. Here are a few providers to consider:

A variety of clinics can be found on the web.

Nutritionists & Dietitians

Nutritionists and dietitians aim to improve overall health and wellness by recommending changes in diet. They can advise on how to lower the consumption of certain nutrients and provide guidance on meal and snack planning. Find out more on the Singapore Nutrition and Dietetics Association's website:

TRADITIONAL AND COMPLEMENTARY HEALTHCARE

While the healthcare systems in Singapore are deeply rooted in the Western model, the presence of diverse Asian ethnic groups has also seen the introduction and adoption of alternative medicinal forms. These healthcare practices focus on holistic and natural treatments, to improve strength and wellbeing.

When looking for such complementary therapies, which you may never have used, you should inform the practitioner about your medical history, any treatments you have received/are receiving and of any medicine you are taking.

The various forms of traditional/complementary medicine are as follows:

TRADITIONAL CHINESE MEDICINE (TCM)

The most common form of complementary therapy in Singapore, it is so popular that Singaporeans often choose it over western medicine. TCM is often used to treat issues such as chronic neck, knee or back pain, arthritis, sports injuries, sciatica, migraines and help with weight loss, to name a few. It is highly respected and considered particularly effective for those with allergies. Reputable TCM clinics that you might consider are:

International School Guide

GUIDE ON HOW TO CHOOSE AN INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL

CURATED BY
XCL WORLD ACADEMY

How to Choose an International School That's Right for Your Child?

With a wide range of school options available in Singapore, choosing an international school for your child can be overwhelming. Making the right choice is made even harder with so many recognised 'branded' schools in the market and various personal opinions about which school is the 'best school'.

The first step in choosing the right school is to determine what type of student your child is and what environment they will most likely succeed in and develop essential lifelong skills.

VISIT SHORTLISTED SCHOOLS

Once you have come up with a shortlist of schools, you are ready to begin touring. By making a personal visit to the school, you can make the best judgment about the atmosphere that prevails there. Many schools hold Open House Days outlining key points in the educational process, mission, goals, values, curriculum and extra-curricular activities. These sessions are beneficial for every parent - it is the easiest way to meet the schools' leadership team and teachers, learn about the school, its values and teaching philosophy and get answers to the questions that matter to your family. You can also schedule a personal tour for your family to meet with the Admissions team and see the campus.

After researching and visiting schools, your picture will become clearer.

WHAT SHOULD YOU LOOK FOR DURING THE TOUR?

To help you in this important decision-making process, we have prepared a School Visit Checklist.

To further aid you with your journey of investigation, we urge you to ask as many questions as possible while speaking to the Admissions team, teachers or any other school representatives.

Good schools will be prepared to answer even 'difficult' questions such as "What is the largest nationality in the school, and what percentage do they comprise of the total student body?" Or "What is not included in the fees?"

Important Questions to Consider

The School Visit Checklist can be used to record your initial impressions and discussions. We have also provided a few tips below on some key areas you may like to enquire about.

YOUR CHILD

While there is an abundance of private schools in Singapore, it might be helpful to look first and foremost at the family and the needs of your child.

Questions to consider:

- Will your child feel better in a small school environment or a larger school with a large community?
- How confident is your child with speaking English?
- Do you think your child is an 'all-rounder' (equally strong in academics, sports, languages and the arts)? Or are they more academic? Or perhaps more sporty?

At XCL World Academy, we recognise that:

- Children learn to speak confidently in front of others with the caring support of teachers. We aim to help them develop skills that are necessary later in life, regardless of whether your child has an outgoing personality or is more naturally shy.

- Students benefit greatly from embracing the philosophies of the IB. At XCL World Academy, we ensure that every child is exposed to a range of activities and experiences that are appropriate for their age. In addition to a challenging academic programme, our curriculum is equally focused on sports, music, the arts, performances, and learning outside the classroom activities. Our school is particularly suited for students who enjoy being exposed to and thrive in an environment with a wide range of subjects and activities.
- Students need a secure, comforting, and happy environment to become confident in themselves and as English language speakers.

CURRICULUM

It can be challenging for parents to understand the difference between various academic programmes, as most of us have not studied the nuances of the different curricula available.

The three main choices are the American, UK or the International Baccalaureate (IB) (or a combination). Most high-quality schools offer the exam-driven IB Diploma (DP) Programme in Grades 11 and 12; however, this does not make them an 'IB School'.

The biggest difference, in terms of curriculum, is the way in which students learn from Nursery up to Grade 10. Both the American and UK curricula are content-driven and focus on memorising content. Testing is performed at regular intervals to check knowledge acquisition. In contrast, the IB programme is focused on self-directed, inquiry-based learning, researching, hands-on learning, exploring themes and connections across subjects, providing students with essential life skills and the global mindset required to succeed in university and beyond, and learning how to apply knowledge in the real world. In short, an IB school helps students learn HOW to learn and not just WHAT to learn.

Questions to consider:

- At the high school level, parents should consider their child's strengths and educational objectives.
- If a student would like to focus on academics and subject areas (whether in specific areas or across a diverse range), all curriculum options would be suitable (e.g., UK A-Levels, American Advanced Placements, or the IB Diploma Programme).

- If a student would like to broaden their educational experience and apply their skills, additional requirements are built into the IB Diploma Programme, such as Theory of Knowledge, an Extended Essay and the Creativity, Activity & Service (CAS) project.

- If a student is strong in all curriculum areas, the IB Diploma would be a great option because it covers six different subjects, allowing students to become well-rounded young adults.

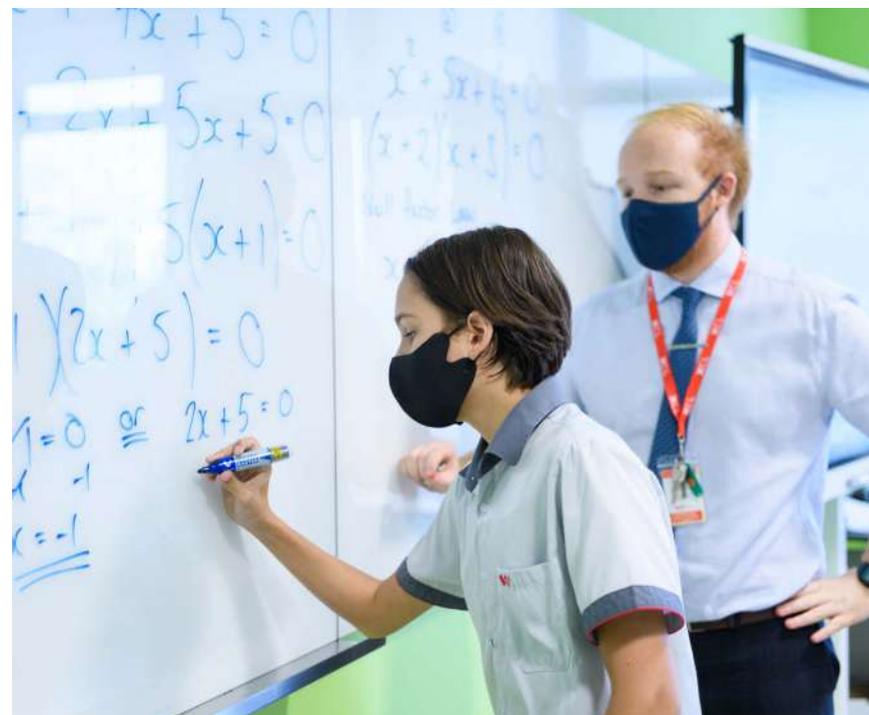

- If a student is particularly strong in one or two areas, like the sciences and mathematics, then the UK A-Levels or the American Advanced Placements may be a better option. These programmes allow students to focus only on their areas of strength, meaning that their chance of academic success is much higher.

Students in an IB-through school take responsibility for their own learning, they learn how to learn, not just what to learn.

To summarise, you should look for a school that offers a curriculum that plays to your child's strengths in the best way possible.

ACADEMIC RESULTS AND RIGOUR

Ask about academic results, graduation pathways and where graduates choose to go (universities and colleges). Remember, however, always consider the academic focus of a school with your own child's needs in mind – not every child performs well under high academic pressure or in competition with their peers.

At XCL World Academy, we know what it takes for students to do well and fly high academically.

We have the track record to prove it, with a perfect IB Diploma score achieved from our latest graduating class.

We also take care to ensure that we address the needs of every student through highly personalised teaching and learning to maximise the individual potential of every child, whether in outstanding academic results or other aspects of their learning journey.

SMALL SCHOOL VS LARGE SCHOOL

Many studies have found that students who attend small schools outperform students in large schools on every academic measure, including grades and test scores. As a parent, you need to consider whether your child will feel more comfortable being surrounded by hundreds or possibly thousands of young people or prefer a more intimate environment.

Compared to large schools with over 3,000 students, XCL World Academy is well known for being a smaller-medium-sized premium school with a close-knit community, providing students with personalised attention, authentic learning opportunities, and preparing them for the careers of tomorrow.

DIVERSITY

Fostering awareness around multicultural education and taking a culturally sensitive approach to teaching has benefits for all students, including encouraging tolerance and acceptance and helping prepare students to thrive in an increasingly diverse world.

Questions to consider

- What is the level of diversity in the school? Are there any dominant nationalities within the student population that are likely to affect the culture of the school?
- What percentage of the highest nationality students are in the school?
- Does the school take proactive steps to ensure the diversity of its student base?

Currently, there are approximately 800 students enrolled at XCL World Academy. Our school population comprises over 60 different nationalities, with no single dominant nationality. Our highest nationality represents only 15% of the entire student body, and our diversity mix is considered to be among the best in Singapore.

HOW IMPORTANT IS THE PHILOSOPHY AND ETHOS OF A SCHOOL?

It may be that a school has a very competitive academic environment, where students win academic rewards for getting great results. This might be a perfect fit with a competitive, driven student. Yet, for other students that are not of the same mindset, it could have a debilitating or damaging impact on their confidence.

Try to determine how the school balances being progressive versus being demanding and strict in discipline. Which is the best fit for your child and family? This could make a massive difference to your child's happiness at school. As well, not only will your child experience the opposite of a rigid/strict environment once they reach university, but the future workplace is also moving away from an authoritarian and structured hierarchy and moving towards becoming more dynamic and agile, with a much larger acceptance of all personality types and free-thinkers.

The culture of the school that you choose for your child today will certainly have an impact on your child's success in the future.

HOW IMPORTANT IS STUDENT WELL-BEING?

Student well-being encompasses the overall health of a student, including their social, mental, physical and emotional health. It is essential because their well-being and academic excellence are intertwined. Schools should, therefore, not only be a place for students to learn, but they should also be a place where students' well-being is prioritised while still delivering high-quality, rigorous education.

Questions to consider:

- While visiting schools, ask detailed questions about the pastoral support structure to understand what kind of pastoral and psychological support is available at school.
- How is student well-being monitored, and how are parents kept informed?
- Who is responsible for your child's well-being?
- How many times does a staff member check in with each student every week? How does that happen?
- Is there a school counsellor available for students? Are these roles full-time?
- How frequent are parents' evenings, and when do parents receive grades and progress reports?
- Is there a house system, and are children offered the opportunity to take on responsibility?

- What is the disciplinary policy of the school?
- How is a student's online access monitored, and what support or advice is given to students and parents about the use of Facebook and other social media platforms?

Schools are only one piece of the well-being puzzle. Parents, of course, play a central role in the well-being and resilience of their children. It is important for parents to be informed and actively involved in the school's approach to student well-being and to be linked in with resources that will help them nurture their child's well-being.

We strongly believe that a smaller school environment provides students with a safe and nurturing place to develop. It helps children not only to feel confident and thrive but also cope with emotional difficulties, learning challenges and anxiety issues. Smaller schools have small classes, which allows teachers to get to know each student and provide them with the level of individual support needed on their learning journey.

Larger schools usually have a larger and more structured support infrastructure. Parents will need to weigh up this as a matter of preference very carefully as part of the school selection process.

FEES

International school tuition fees in Singapore range between $20,000 and $50,000. There are many factors to consider, including application fees, enrolment fees, cost of maintaining the buildings, insurance, exams, parents' groups and extra-curricular activities.

Questions to consider:

- It's important to ask for a school's comprehensive list of fees so you can gauge whether it falls within the yearly budget for your child's education.
- Importantly, be sure to ask which activities and services are included in the fees (e.g., GST, technology devices, extra-curricular activities, facility development funds, etc.) and which services are not included.

ACCREDITATIONS AND AUTHORISATIONS

Before enrolling your child, an important step is to verify whether or not the school is accredited by a recognised accrediting agency (CIS, WASC, NEASC, etc.). Although accreditation is a voluntary activity initiated by the school, it requires rigorous self-evaluation and an independent, objective appraisal of the overall educational quality by external industry experts and agencies. Accreditation emphasises quality assurance and a commitment to continuous quality enhancement.

In addition, accreditation enables schools, colleges and universities to recognise school reports and High School diplomas as being issued by a high-quality school held in good standing internationally.

Questions to consider:

- There is an important distinction between an "accredited" school and a "member" school. If a school is a "member", this does NOT mean that they have been awarded full accreditation.

XCL World Academy is an accredited school authorised by the Council of International Schools (CIS) and the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC) in the USA.

We are also the only international school in Singapore authorised by the International Baccalaureate Organisation (IBO) to offer all four IB programmes: the Primary Years Programme (PYP) - from Pre-K to Grade 5, the Middle Years Programme (MYP) - from Grade 6 to Grade 10, the Career-related Programme (CP) and the Diploma Programme (DP) in Grades 11 and 12.

TEACHERS

Teachers are the backbone of every school, and it is imperative that you feel comfortable with the school's hiring practices.

Questions to consider:

- Qualifications & Experience – is it relevant for the grades and subjects taught?
- Does the school provide Professional Development to the faculty? This provides evidence of the School's emphasis on investing in and developing its professional teaching staff.

- Does the school conduct Child Safeguarding Training for their staff? An essential requirement for all teaching faculty and should be an annual exercise.
- Does the school do any background checks on their new hires?

Take the time to observe teaching in action, if possible, to get a feel for the teaching and learning environment that your child is going to personally experience.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Through extra-curricular activities (ECAs), students gain essential lifelong skills and develop qualities such as leadership, teamwork and resilience that will prepare them for the future. Finding the right fit that is enjoyable, engaging and challenging is very important.

Questions to consider:

- Does the school offer ECAs that your child would like to join?
- Are these ECAs designed to take them to the next level if they so choose to?
- Does the school encourage students to try different ECAs to allow them to find their interests?
- Does the school have appropriate facilities and instructors to conduct these ECAs?
- Does the school offer other activities to enrich the students' learning experiences?

Ask the school for a list of ECAs and get an in-depth understanding of how ECAs are run and what other avenues can students engage outside of classes (e.g., the XCL Dialogues and XCL Camps at XCL World Academy).

Creating and maintaining a close and collaborative family-oriented school community is considered one of the highest priorities at XCL World Academy.

OTHER QUESTIONS

PARENT INVOLVEMENT

You, as a parent, are your child's first teacher. You know your child best – how they learn, respond to strategies and what builds their confidence the most as they strive towards their aspirations.

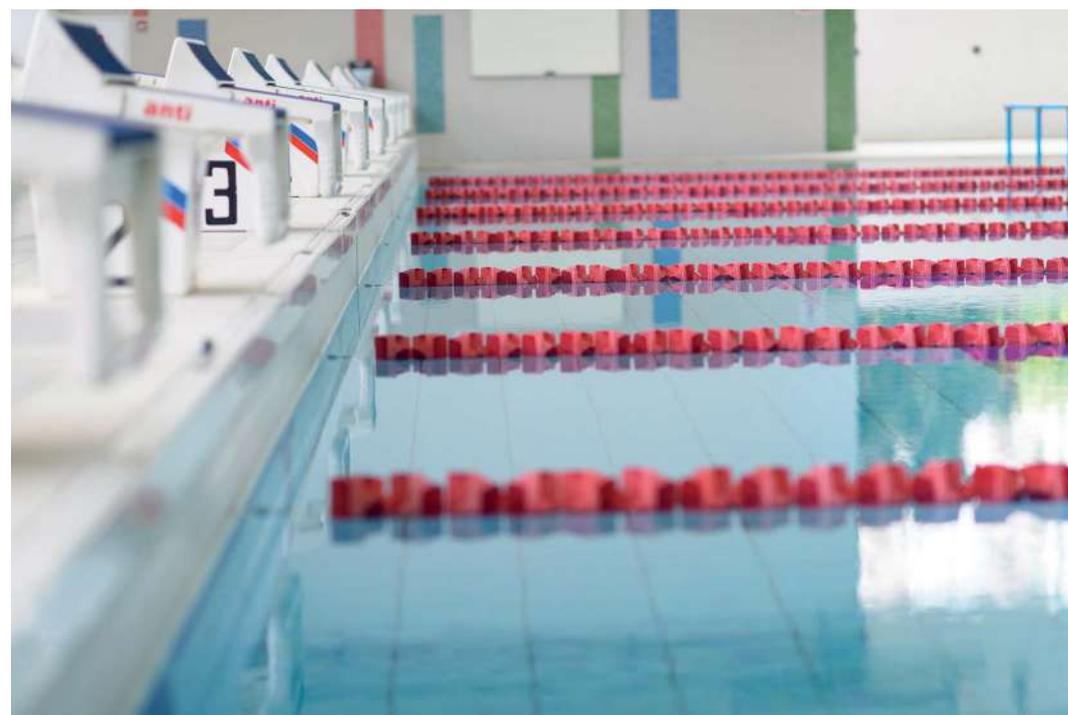

Parent engagement within school communities is also important for student learning.

Questions to consider:

- Is there a parent association you can join or contact?
- Do you feel welcomed in the school during your visit?
- Are the school leaders and teachers approachable and accessible?
- How does the school communicate with families, and how often?
- What are the opportunities for you as a parent to be involved in your child's learning?
- How does the school connect families in the school?

We understand that starting or switching schools can be a challenging and stressful task. There are likely dozens of questions that you may have before deciding to entrust a school with your child's future. In this article, we have provided some guidance on what we believe are some of the key criteria that you need to look at, as objectively as possible, when choosing the right school for your child. SINGAPORE, THE GATEWAY TO ASIA
A BRIEF GUIDE FOR DOING BUSINESS IN SINGAPORE

CURATED BY ALGEBRA

Singapore, the gateway to Asia

Singapore is one of the wealthiest economies in Asia. In spite of its small area, it is considered a global economic giant. With its strategic location at the crossroads of global trade and its growing appeal as an international hub, Singapore has been the choice of many multinational corporations that have set up their regional headquarters here. There are many reasons for this, including the openness of Singapore's economy, government incentives, extensive network of double tax treaties, its general financial stability, strong infrastructure, and reputation for fairness and impartiality in commercial law.

The main objective of this guide is to provide a basic knowledge about Singapore, this is an overview of its tax system, type of companies and immigration requirements. This guide is meant to be a useful starting point for investors that are considering setting up a business in Singapore. For further comprehensive assistance feel free to contact our team in Singapore. Full contact details are available in this guide.

Type of Business

In Singapore, there are different types of structures for doing business:

- a. Representative Office ('RO'): It is a unique type of entity that does not have a legal status and does not generate any profit but acts as a cost centre to the parent company. The representative office structure is often chosen by foreign businesses that are keen to explore opportunities in Singapore with market research and feasibility studies. It represents a temporary arrangement since its registration can be renewed for a maximum of three years. After this period, the foreign corporation must either set-up a permanent business structure or terminate its presence in Singapore.
- b. Branch Office: A branch office does not exist as a separate legal identity from its foreign parent company since it is considered as a "legal extension" of the foreign parent company itself. Thus, the liability of a branch office extends to its foreign parent company. It must share the same name and constitution of the parent company and cannot carry out different commercial activities from that of the parent company. It is taxed as a non-resident entity without benefitting from any tax benefits and incentives in Singapore.
- c. Private Company Limited by Shares: It is the most preferred business structure by foreigners doing business in Singapore. This entity has a separate legal personality, it can benefit from any tax incentives and schemes, engage in business operations that are different from those of its parent company and it is suitable with the scale of most business activities with limited liability for the shareholder. Foreign parent entities can own 100% of a subsidiary in Singapore.
- d. Variable Capital Company (VCC): A new corporate structure for investment funds constituted under the Variable Capital Companies Act which took effect on 14 Jan 2020. The VCC complements the existing suite of investment fund structures available in Singapore.
- e. Sole Proprietorship (single owner) or Partnership (at least two and max of twenty owners): This entity is the easiest to set up with almost negligible compliance norms and costs. A natural person who is a resident in Singapore above 18 years of age can set up a sole proprietorship. This entity is not a separate legal entity from its owner who has unlimited liability for debts and losses of the business, individual tax rates apply to its chargeable income and its registration requires to be renewed annually or every 3 years.

- f. Limited Partnership (LP): This type of entity involves quick set up procedures. It is easy to manage with minimal registration costs and fewer compliance regulations to adhere to. Its registration requires annual renewal and it is formed between at least one General Partner (GP) bearing unlimited liabilities and one Limited Partner with limited liability (but with no role in the management). At least one local manager must be an ordinary resident.

- g. Limited Liability Partnership (LLP): This business structure has less formalities, procedures and regulatory duties to comply with. It requires at least two partners with limited liabilities. It is a separate legal entity from its partners, and it needs at least one local manager to be an ordinary resident in Singapore of at least 18 years of age.

The Private Limited Companies

A private limited company is a business entity incorporated under the Singapore Companies Act (Cap 50).

A private limited company is the most advanced, flexible, and scalable type of business form in Singapore.

KEY REQUIREMENTS

- Shareholder: The company must have at least one shareholder, who can be a natural person or a corporation and enjoy limited liability. A private company cannot have more than 50 shareholders. Local shareholding is not required.
- Capital: A minimum paid up capital is SGD 1.00. The capital of the company can be increased at any time after the incorporation.
- Management: The company is managed by a director or a board of directors, of which at least one must be a legal resident in Singapore.
- Address: It must have a local and physical registered office address where the company will keep all of its statutory documents. This address cannot be a PO box.

- Secretary: The company must have a professional company secretary who is a local resident in Singapore to be responsible for ensuring the smooth administration of the company (compliance with corporate governance and other financial and legal regulations)..
- Auditor: The company must appoint an audit firm to audit its accounts annually, unless exempted by law. Audit exemption requirements relate to “small companies/small groups” as well as “relevant dormant companies”.

Further to the usual corporate books, private companies are required to maintain Beneficial Ownership (BO) information in the form of a Register of Registrable Controllers, and to make this information available to government agencies upon request. A Controller is defined as an individual or a legal entity that has a “significant interest” in or “significant control” over the company.

COMPLIANCE REQUIREMENTS:

- Annual General Meeting and Annual Return:

The company must hold the Annual General Meeting (AGM) to approve (among others) the financial statements within 6 months from the financial year end.

Under certain circumstances, private companies do not need to hold AGMs if they send their financial statements to members within 5 months after the FYE provided that no member or auditor requested that an AGM be held. The company is also required to file with the local registrar, Accounting & Corporate Regulatory Authority (ACRA), its Annual Return (AR) within the 7 months from the financial year end. The AR should contain the details of the Officers of the Company, Registered Address of the Company, and the Auditors. Do note that “private dormant relevant companies” are exempted from preparing financial statements and do not need to hold AGM, subject to the above-mentioned safeguards. A private dormant Relevant company is a private company which is dormant, is not listed (or not a subsidiary of a listed company) and has total assets less than or equal to $500,000 (consolidated value if it is an ultimate parent).

- Registrable Controllers:

Companies are required to maintain a register of registrable controllers (RORC) and file the RORC information with the ACRA. A Registrable Controller is defined as an individual or a legal entity that has a “significant interest” (holds $\geq 25\%$ shares or voting rights) in or exercises “significant control/influence” over the company (i.e., can appoint or remove the directors, amend the constitution and nature of company’s business).

Immigration

All foreigners who intend to work in Singapore must have a valid visa, here below are listed the main visa schemes

S Pass

For mid-level skilled staff. Candidates need to earn at least $2,500 a month and meet certain eligibility criteria. S passes are limited by a quota.

Employment Pass (EP)

For foreign professionals, managers and executives. The fixed monthly salary must be more than S$4,500 (S$5,000 as of September 2022). There is no official quota system that limits the number of EPs issued. An EP is initially issued for 1-2 years and is renewable until the applicant continues to be employed by the company.

Entrepreneur Pass (EntrePass)

The EntrePass is a variant of the Employment Pass. It is a work permit for newly established (or to be established) Singapore company owners who wish to relocate to Singapore to operate their business.

To be eligible, the company must meet several criteria such as:

- Secure funding from a government-recognized investor;
- Have entrepreneurial or investment experience;
- Possess intellectual property, have a research collaboration with accredited research
- Hold intellectual property, collaborate with accredited research institutions in Singapore, or have extraordinary achievements in strategic areas.

It is initially issued for one year and is renewable after that, provided the business remains profitable. There is no official quota system for the EntrePass.

Personalized Employment Card (PEP).

The Personalised Employment Pass (PEP) is a type of employment pass that is not tied to a specific employer.

The most significant advantage of having a PEP work permit is being able to change jobs without applying for a new employment pass, as long as the holder is not unemployed for more than six months.

The most significant disadvantage is that a PEP holder cannot start his own business. The eligibility requirements for PEP are:

- For EP holders: a fixed monthly salary of at least $12,000;
- For overseas foreign professionals: a fixed monthly salary of at least $18,000 and the

- The last salary received must have been within six months before application.

PEP is issued for three years and is not renewable. There is no formal quota system for PEP holders, and holders can apply for PR in due course.

Tech.Pass

The Tech.Pass was introduced in 2021, allowing established tech entrepreneurs, leaders, or technical experts worldwide to come to Singapore to execute frontier and disruptive innovations.

Individuals may apply for the pass directly. The pass, once approved, allows the holder to:

- Start and manage one or more technology companies;
- Be an employee of one or more Singapore-based companies at any time;
- Be a consultant or mentor, teach at local institutions of higher learning;
- Be an investor and director in one or more Singapore-based companies.

To be eligible for a pass, applicants must have an annual income of at least S$240,000 and five years of relevant and demonstrated experience in the tech sector.

It can be renewed for a duration of 2 years, provided the holder meets the prevailing renewal criteria. Tech.Pass holders may apply for the PR in due course.

Dependants

Pass holders may have their spouses, children and parents join them in Singapore. Dependents can work in Singapore, but they need to obtain a work visa under the prevailing qualifying conditions.

Permanent Resident

Foreigners can apply to become permanent residents of Singapore (PR) and enjoy most of the benefits and rights granted to citizens.

The benefits include:

- The right to live in the country without a visa or work restrictions.
- Priority for their children to study in public schools.
- Greater freedom to purchase a property.
- Participation in the pension fund scheme.

At the same time, they need to make specific commitments, such as sending their children to compulsory two-year military service once they reach the age of 18.

The main scheme that foreigners can apply for PR is the “Professionals/Technical Personnel & Skilled Worker” scheme, reserved for foreign professionals working in Singapore when applying for permanent residency.

The other two schemes foreigners can apply for PR are:

- The Global Investor Program (GIP). Under this scheme, foreigners can apply by starting a business with a minimum investment of SGD 2.5 million;
- The Foreign Artistic Talent Scheme. To qualify for this scheme, foreigners must be well-recognized artists in their own country and have made significant contributions to Singapore's arts and cultural scene.

Budget 2022

With the budget 2022 some changes in Singapore's tax system will be introduced

Two-step increase in GST in 2023 and 2024: The planned increase in the goods and services tax (GST) from 7% to 9% will be carried out in two stages: by 1 percentage point on January 1, 2023 and January 1, 2024. The impact of the increase, which was first announced in 2018, will be cushioned by a $6.6 billion compensatory package.

Higher personal income taxes for higher incomes: Taxable income of resident taxpayers above $500,000 up to $1 million will be taxed at 23%, while taxable income above $1 million will be taxed at 24%. This is up from the current 22% tax levied on taxable income above $320,000.

Increase in tax rates for residential real estate: Property tax, which is currently Singapore's main means of taxing wealth, will be adjusted starting in 2023. Marginal property tax rates will be revised in two stages for residential real estate:

- All non-owner-occupied residential properties, such as investment properties, will face higher taxes of 12% to 36%, compared to the 10% -20% currently expected, with the most significant increase for high-end properties.

- For owner-occupied homes, property tax rates for the portion of annual value above $30,000 will also be increased from 6% to 32%, compared to 4%-16% currently.

Luxury cars to be taxed at a higher rate: Luxury cars will be taxed at a higher rate to make Singapore's vehicle taxation system more progressive.

Possible “supplementary tax” for multinationals: Singapore's corporate tax system will need to be updated due to global tax developments related to the Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (BEPS 2.0) initiative. Singapore will adapt its tax system in response to the rules of the second pillar in BEPS 2.0.

The carbon tax rate has increased from $50 to $80 per ton by 2030: Singapore's carbon tax will be increased from $50 to $80 per ton of emissions by 2030, as part of a move to help the country to achieve more ambitious climate change targets.

Singapore has a strong connection with its past, honouring its history by drawing from its eclectic mix of cultures.

National Day

The National Day of Singapore is celebrated every year on 9 August, in commemoration of Singapore's independence from Malaysia in 1965. Many different ceremonies take place on this date, such as the National Day Parade, usually held at Marina Bay, in the presence of the Prime Minister and includes a fireworks display. To encourage the audience to arrive early and take their seats, there is a variety of different types of entertainment before the parade, including sky-diving displays, performances by local choirs, concerts by school bands and lots of fun to keep the audience entertained.

Chinese New Year

Also known as Lunar New Year, Chinese New Year is the Chinese festival that celebrates the beginning of a new year in the traditional Chinese calendar and is undoubtedly the most important event in the Chinese calendar.

Festivities begin weeks before the official start of Chinese New Year, so you can head down to Chinatown for the street illuminations, in which the streets are lined with beautifully-designed lanterns. You will also be able to soak up the festive atmosphere throughout the island with celebrations in the form of colourful processions, seasonal markets and lively lion dance performances.

Hari Raya Puasa (Eid)

Marking the end of the Islamic holy month of Ramadan is the festival of Eid, known in Singapore as Hari Raya Aidilfitri or Hari Raya Puasa. A month leading up to Hari Raya, visitors can drop by Geylang Serai to enjoy the festival light-ups. In addition, there will also be a physical bazaar and a myriad of cultural programmes that visitors can participate in to experience the festive vibes.

Christmas

Christmas in Singapore is a big celebration that gives locals another excuse to do what they love most - Eat and shop. The famous shopping belt on Orchard Road is spectacularly lit up every December to ramp up the festive mood, and serves as a blazing reminder to hit the malls. Meanwhile, Christmas spreads and Yuletide menus pop up at restaurants across the island, giving a festive twist to an already impressive dining scene.

It's not all indulgence though. At its heart, the holiday is still a special day for Christians in Singapore, who attend Christmas service in commemoration of the birth of Jesus Christ.

Deepavali

Every autumn, the Hindu festival of lights called Deepavali (also known as “Diwali”) celebrates the triumph of good over evil.

Thousands of Hindu families in the city and abroad transform their homes into beacons of light, exchange gifts, enjoy meals together and perform pooja (prayers) to their deities such as Lakshmi, the goddess of fertility and prosperity.

Chingay

The Chingay Parade is an annual marvel of dazzling floats, dancing dragons and stilt walkers. It may be held during the Chinese

New Year festivities, but this wondrous event brings together people and performances from across Singapore’s cultural spectrum, and is celebrated by Chinese, Malays, Indians and Eurasians alike.

Marina Bay New Year Countdown

New Year celebrations in Singapore are an unforgettable affair, with festivities filling our bustling streets and a range of spectacular sights to savour in the heart of the city. Sports and Activities

Singapore has more trees per capita than almost any other city in the world, which is why it's known as a "Garden City". Despite the heat, there is no shortage of facilities and events for you to watch and play.

EXPLORE SENTOSA

Sentosa is well-known by Singaporeans and tourists as a luxurious, 500-hectare resort island off the southern coast of Singapore. The island today is home to luxury resorts, theme parks, golf courses, hip beach clubs, and a casino. While its name in Malay means "tranquillity", the island's tumultuous past was much darker before it was developed as a tourist paradise.

WATER ACTIVITIES

Because of Singapore's humidity, water activities, such as water playgrounds and swimming pools, are especially welcome. Swimming pools and sports centres (often including extras such as gym facilities) are strategically located around the island, so families can keep fit by swimming together.

For those up for a challenge, you may want to try wakeboarding, which is an exciting water sport.

THE ACADEMY AND ITS OBJECTIVES

The Italian Academy of Cuisine, which is a Cultural Institution of the Italian Republic since 2003, was founded in Milan on July 29, 1953 by Orio Vergani along with a group of talented experts in the field of culture, industry and journalism. Its mission is to defend and protect traditional Italian Cuisine, and to promote its diffusion and improvement in Italy and abroad. The Academy works with public officials, entities, associations, public and private institutions, and it can authoritatively guarantee objectivity and neutrality in its judgements in the field of cuisine thanks to its independence from any and all commercial interests.

Through its Study Center and its Delegations in Italy and abroad, the Academy works to promote initiatives aimed at spreading a broader understanding of the values of traditional Italian cuisine. This constitutes the basis for all its concrete innovations.

Those people with a direct commercial interest in the restaurant industry or culinary schools are not eligible for admission to the Academy.

BI-QEM dates back to 1955 when the cornerstone of the BI-QEM Group has been laid to produce thermoset molding compounds in Tradate, under its previous name Chemiplastica. After becoming the global largest supplier of thermoset molding compounds market, BI-QEM took a step ahead and started to diversify its product portfolio. In 2010 a new investment decision was made and BI-QEM acquired Chimeco, a company specialized in production of specialty chemicals with a strategic position in the global market. Following the acquisition, the plant was restructured in line with the quality and safety requirements of BI-QEM and started to operate as Chemiplastica Specialties. In the year 2018, with the intention to welcome new challenges offered by the global market, BI-QEM has decided to change its historical and well-known name from Chemiplastica to BI-QEM. The change of name was driven by the diversification of product lines, constantly increasing attention to the environmental matters and welcoming approach towards global extension and strengthened presence. In 2020, BI-QEM further diversified its product portfolio by making a vertical acquisition of sanitaryware products manufacturer Japar in Turkey.

Began operations in 2013 in Singapore. It first ventured into the retail industry, selling natural, non-chemical-based hygiene & personal care products both online and offline. In 2016, BEA registered to become an online seller on an online platform which eventually became Singapore's largest online grocer after being acquired. BEA saw the potential of modern retail and the benefits of ecommerce even then. It also saw gaps in the service support provided at that time and saw that it had a business opportunity to help 'close those gaps.' BEA moved into its own warehouse to support the online platform. With a focus on helping local entrepreneurs and foreign SMEs. BEA conceptualized and developed a unique business model "Business Entry Program (BEP) - Singapore Incubator." Through the 'BEP model', a seller can keep entry/ start-up costs low, have a stable platform to get real time data on their products' potential acceptance and success, while paying low, transparent, fixed monthly service fees to BEA. BEA will act as their "arms and legs", manage operations, inventory management and order fulfilment on behalf of the client.

PREDIP THEKKEKARA
DIRECTOR

The Thekkekara method is a completely natural technique, of Ayurvedic derivation, which aims to manage and potentially eliminate back pain and other spinal disorders. This technique does not involve the use of drugs and is divided into three phases. In the first phase, some muscle centers are stimulated to obtain the relaxation of contractures. In the second phase, the energy centers known as Chakras are stimulated. Finally, slow and gradual maneuvers are performed on the spinal column with the aim of obtaining active and passive muscle stretching, relaxation of the ligaments and adjacent tissues. The maneuvers are progressive and delicate; therefore, no pain is felt. They are performed on a normal massage table. Furthermore, to help the improvement process, some natural Indian essences with decontracting and anti-inflammatory properties are used. The main disorders on which the soft movement technique has shown greater effectiveness are: Low back pain; Neck pain; Whiplash; Back pain due to overweight, poor posture, excess physical activity etc.

Founded in May, 1978, Farmindustria – the association of pharmaceutical companies and member of Confindustria – counts today about 200 national and foreign-owned member companies operating in Italy.

With 63,500 highly qualified employees, the pharmaceutical industry in Italy plays a leading role in the international scenario. The overall pharmaceutical turnover amounts to 30 billion euro, with exports accounting for 73% of manufacturing of the 174 companies located in Italy.

With 6,000 researchers and investments for 2.5 billion euro each year (1.2 in manufacturing and 1.3 in R&D), Italy is buttressing its pharmaceutical research commitment, as demonstrated by 303 Italian biotechnological products under development, also thanks to the cooperation between public and private centres of excellence.

R&D and manufacturing are also vital for the activity of vaccines, which constitute an excellence of pharmaceutical industry.

In order to guarantee the fairest behaviour Farmindustria member companies have adopted a Code of Professional Conduct - today one of the most rigorous in Europe - that regulates not only the relations between companies but also their relations with the scientific and medical community.

Farmindustria, which is a member of the European (EFPIA) and International federations (IFPMA), pursues the achievement of a stable legislative framework and the outlining of policies by which the key role of pharmaceutical industry in enhancing the knowledge-based economy can get the right recognition, which may contribute to consolidating industrial presence on the territory and investments in research and manufacturing.

In order to convey the importance of pharmaceutical industry and Research, Farmindustria has started a “roadshow” through the Associated companies’ facilities, with the aim of providing a live demonstration of the production of value. Farmindustria has also presented the Orologio della Vita (Life Clock), which measures the contribution of medicines to the increase in life expectancy, and has created the website www.farmacie-vita.it.

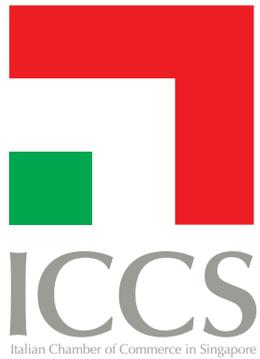

The logo comes in the form of a square shape to enhance stability and trust. The colours in the flags of both Italy and Singapore are reflected in the logo. The colours of the Singapore flag are positioned at the top portion of the logo in red and white while the colours of the Italy flag are positioned at the bottom portion, in green, white and red.

In view of the bilateral relations that ICCS bridges between Italy and Singapore in terms of economic, commercial and legislative connections, the red coloured portion leads our eyes from the left towards the right and ends at the letter 'S', which stands for Singapore.

On a geographical level, Italy is situated northwest from Singapore, thus the red area could also represent a directional bridge, linking Singapore to the north-upwards followed by the west-leftwards, strengthening the ties between Singapore and Italy.
